PEACE TREATY
DEBATES CUT
BY GAG RULEVERBAL TIFF OVER
GREECE ENLIVENS
PARIS SESSION

BY LOUIS NEVIN

Paris, Sept. 26. (AP)—The 21-nation European peace conference voted without discussion at a special general session tonight to impose a "gag rule" on itself in order to speed to completion by Oct. 15 its task of writing the peace treaties.

The session was enlivened by a turbulent 15 minutes at the outset when U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes, as chairman, announced that Greece had withdrawn her demands that Northern Epirus be transferred from Albania to Greece.

That development came after another day of commission meetings highlighted by bitter comment from Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky directed at the United States charging that "while our blood was flowing you were making profits."

Soviets Toss Sarcastic

Vishinsky, in reply to an American statement on Tuesday regarding Romanian reparations payments to Russia, also threw in the cryptic remark that he did not know the exact cost of atom bombs because "I don't manufacture them and I don't use them."

The conference delegates approved unanimously the plan of the "big four" foreign ministers to limit debate in commission meetings. The conference secretary general was directed to supervise execution of the plan.

Near tumult arose in a 15-minute verbal tussle at the start of the plenary session between Byrnes and Deputy Premier Edvard Kardelj of Yugoslavia over the question of the Greek demands for Northern Epirus.

Kardelj, asking whether the Greek demands were still on the conference agenda, and formally proposing that they be stricken.

Byrnes replied that the Greek delegation has withdrawn its proposal for discussion of its demands. A short discussion arose between Byrnes and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov on whether a delegate could withdraw his proposal once it had been voted to hold a discussion on it.

Byrnes ruled that this was possible, and therefore there was nothing before the conference concerning the Greek demands.

Revised Universal
Military Training
Program Outlined

Washington, Sept. 26. (AP)—The war department has decided, it was reported tonight, to back a plan for universal military training by which youths could perform part of their compulsory service in scientific laboratories, the National Guard or organized reserves.

Informed officials said privately that Secretary of War Patterson will ask support of the revised proposal at the American Legion's National convention next week at San Francisco.

It follows the general outline of legion-sponsored legislation introduced in Congress in June by Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the House Military Committee and by Senator Gurney (R-SD) as a substitute for the original administration proposal to require one year's training entirely in the armed forces.

YANKS ENSLAVED?—Reports have come to the U. S. embassy in Nanking that American flyers, forced down in 1944, are being held as slaves of the wild, aboriginal Lolo tribesmen in mountainous western China (1). STEPFATHER, 15,
LOOKS FOR JOBDetroit Boy Wants To Know If He Can
Quit School

Detroit, Sept. 26. (AP)—Robert Crutcher, 15-year-old schoolboy-stepfather, today dropped in at board of education offices to learn about possibilities for his future.

School Attendance Director Herbert Sullivan told him he would have to investigate further into the young family man's financial condition before reaching a decision.

If he finds Robert financially able to follow a full school curriculum the youth will have to go back to his classrooms at Cass Technical high school, Sullivan said. If not, then he will be free to go about the business of a breadwinner, Sullivan said, adding that a half school-half work program still was a possibility.

Robert's case was turned over to the board of education yesterday after Circuit Judge John J. Maher found legal his Missouri marriage in August to Mrs. Edna Fremont, 30-year-old mother of two children, Owen, 10, and Sharon, 8.

Noting the publicity of his case, young Crutcher declared he and his wife wanted to be "looked on as individuals—not as freaks."

"I realize my responsibility and I want to shoulder it," he said, adding he was looking for a job as a mechanic.

Americans Invited To Last Session Of Nuernberg Trials

Nuernberg, Germany, Sept. 26. (AP)—A list of 22 Americans invited to attend the closing session of the Nuernberg trials was released today with the announcement that, although the number tops the 16 allotted for each delegation, extra seats would be made available in the back rows of the visitors' gallery.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was one of those invited, but he has not yet accepted. Three of his associates at the Paris peace conference, Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex.) and Ben Cohen, state department counselor, have accepted, however.

Others invited include Gen. Joseph B. McNarney, American commander in the European theater, and Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, director of the military government.

Pope Backs Firm
U. S. Foreign Policy,
Jim Farley Reports

Rome, Sept. 6. (AP)—James A. Farley, former Democratic national chairman and postmaster general, said today that Pope Pius was "thoroughly in accord with the firm American policy" of Secretary of State Byrnes.

Farley, who had an audience with the pontiff at the papal summer residence yesterday, said the pope was personally supporting "the administration's foreign policy and the manner in which Byrnes is carrying it out."

"Generally speaking I think I express the attitude of the great majority of Americans," he added.

He said he thought American foreign policy at this time ought to be above partisan politics and he praised the attitude of Senator Arthur Vandenberg. (R-Mich.) who, he said, had "cooperated 100 per cent."

Atomic Bomb Blast
Struck Hiroshima

This is the second of a series, detailing what happened to Hiroshima and the people of that city when an atomic bomb hit it.

FATHER WILHELM KLEINSORGE, of the Society of Jesus, was, on the morning of the explosion, in rather frail condition. The Japanese wartime diet had not sustained him, and he felt the strain of being a foreigner in an increasingly xenophobic Japan; even a German, since the defeat of the fatherland, was unpopular.

Father Kleinsorge had at 38 the look of a boy growing too fast—thin in the face with a prominent Adam's apple, a hollow chest, dangling hands, big feet. He walked clumsily, leaning forward a little. He was tired all the time. To make matters worse, he had suffered for two days, along with Father Cieslik, a fellow priest, from a rather painful and urgent diarrhea, which they blamed on the beans and black ration bread they were obliged to eat.

Two other priests then living in the mission compound, which was in the Nobori-Cho section—Father Superior La Salle and Father Schiffer—had happily escaped this affliction.

Father Kleinsorge woke up about 6 the morning the bomb was dropped, and half an hour later he was a bit tardy because of his sickness—he began to read mass in the mission chapel, a small Japanese style wooden building which was without pews, since worshippers knelt on the usual Japanese matted floor, facing an altar graced with splendid silks, brass, silver and heavy embroideries.

The morning, a Monday, the only worshippers were Mr. Takekura, a theological student living in the mission house; Mr. Fukai, the secretary of the diocese; Mrs. Murata, the mission's devoutly Christian housekeeper and his fellow-priests.

After mass, while Father Kleinsorge was reading the prayers of thanksgiving, the siren sounded. He stopped the services, and the missionaries retired across the compound to the bigger building. There, in his room on the ground floor to the right of the front door, Father Kleinsorge changed into a military uniform which he had acquired when he was teaching at the Rokko Middle School in Kobe and which he wore during air raid alerts.

After an alarm, Father Kleinsorge always went out and scanned the sky, and this time, when he stepped outside, he was glad to see the single weather plane that flew over Hiroshima each day about this time. Satisfied that nothing would happen, he went in and breakfasted with the other fathers on substitute coffee and ration bread, which, under the circumstances, was especially repugnant to him.

The fathers sat and talked a while, until, at 8, they heard the all-clear. They went then to various parts of the building. Father Schiffer retired to his room to do some writing. Father Cieslik sat in his room in a straight chair with a pillow over his stomach to ease his pain, and read.

Father Superior LaSalle stood at the window of his room, thinking. Father Kleinsorge went up to a room on the third floor, took off all his clothes except his underwear, and stretched out on his right side on a cot and began reading his Stimmen der Zeit.

After the terrible flash—which Father Kleinsorge later realized reminded him of something he had read as a boy about a large meteor colliding with the earth—he had time (since he was 1,400 yards from the center) for one thought: A bomb had fallen directly on us. Then, for a few seconds or minutes, he went out of his mind.

Father Kleinsorge never knew how he got out of the house. The next thing he was conscious of were that he was wandering around in the mission's vegetable garden in his underwear, bleeding slightly from small cuts along his left flank; that all the buildings round about had fallen down, except the Jesuits' mission house, which had long before been braced and double braced by a priest named Gropper, who was terrified of earthquakes; that the day had turned dark, and that Muratsan, the housekeeper, was near by, crying over and over, "Shu Jesusu, Awamitama! Our Lord Jesus, have pity on us!"

On the train on the way into Hiroshima from the country, where he lived with his mother, Dr. Terufumi Sasaki, the Red Cross hospital surgeon, thought over the unpleasant nightmare he had had the night before.

His mother's home was in Mukaihara, 30 miles from the city, and it took him two hours by train and tram to reach the hospital. He had slept uneasily all night and had wakened an hour earlier than usual, and feeling sluggish and slightly feverish, had debated whether to go to the hospital at all; his sense of duty finally forced him to go, and he had started out on an earlier train than he took most mornings.

The dream had particularly frightened him because it was so closely associated, on the surface at least, with a disturbing actuality. He was only 25 years old and

Ship Owners Seek To Ward Off New
Maritime Walkout

Washington, Sept. 26. (AP)—The maritime commission joined the labor department in appealing to J. B. Bryan, president of the Pacific American Shipowners Association, to attend conference here tomorrow aimed at averting a new maritime strike.

Bryan had responded to an earlier invitation from Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach to come to the conciliation meetings here by saying he preferred to have the meetings held on the west coast.

Schwellenbach and Chairman W. W. Smith of the maritime commission tonight made public a joint message to Bryan saying his presence in Washington is "necessary to avoid the maritime strike which has been scheduled for next week."

WORLD FEARS
EASED BY U.S.,
BYRNES AVERSWALLACE'S OUSTER
CLEARS FOREIGN POLICIES

BY REILMAN MORIN

Paris, Sept. 26. (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes declared tonight that President Truman's recent American foreign policy statement gives "assurance to the world" of the stability in the policy to be followed by the United States.

The President's statement backed Byrnes' policies and ousted Henry Wallace as secretary of commerce. It climaxed a chain of events which began Sept. 12 when Wallace made a speech in New York's Madison Square Garden attacking the present American policy.

Danger Spot Avoided

Byrnes, in his first formal pronouncement since the original Wallace speech, told a news conference:

"The statement of the President that the American foreign policy is wholeheartedly supported by him and that he contemplates no change in that policy is most reassuring."

"The fact is that that policy is a bi-partisan policy, and because it is supported by Democrats and Republicans, it is assurance to the world that regardless of which party is in power, the United States is going to stand by the policy he (the President) has followed and is following today."

"The President indicated that when there is any change in that policy it would only be changed after discussion and conference among the President, the Secretary of State and Congressional leaders."

Byrnes also indicated—although he did not say it in so many words—that a dangerous corner had been turned in international affairs. His manner at the news conference said more than he did.

The question was asked of Byrnes whether his optimism was in some way related to Stalin's declaration and others which have been made recently. He said he had nothing to say on this point.

Peace Meeting Successful

The burden of Byrnes' own remarks, before question-time started, was an expression of satisfaction over the way the peace conference has gone. The way it is going, and the likelihood that it will meet its two deadlines of Oct. 5, for committee reports, and Oct. 15, for a final finish.

With sly and conscious wit, he compared the operations of the conference with the United States Senate, and said he had seen the Senate take more time over a single bill than the 21 nations have taken over many diverse and complicated issues.

He confirmed that the Big Four foreign ministers are hoping to finish all their work "by the 17th or 18th of October," and are then

HEMANS TO TRY
SUPREME COURTTwo Appeals Rejected
In Attempt To Dodge
Lansing Bribe Case

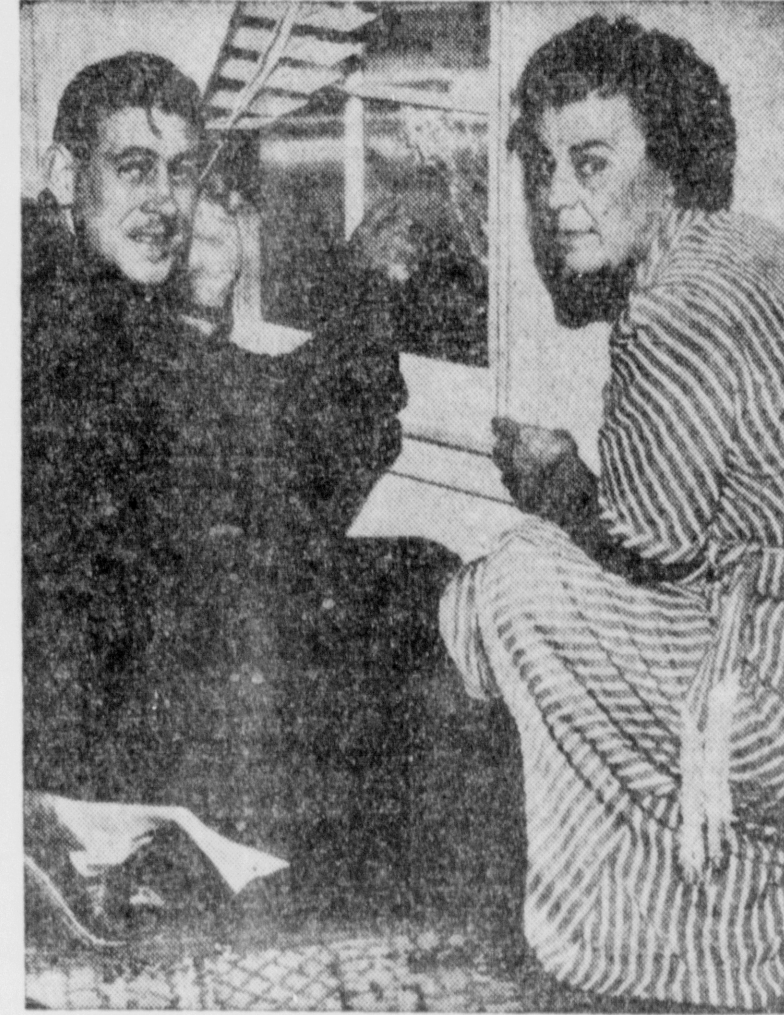

Washington, Sept. 26. (AP)—The United States supreme court will be asked to prevent the removal of Charles F. Hemans to Michigan as a key witness in the examination of 19 defendants in the state's anti-branch banking bribery conspiracy case.

This was announced today by Hemans' attorney, O. R. McGuire, after both federal district Judge Alexander Holtzoff and the district of Columbia court of appeals turned down Hemans' plea for a writ of habeas corpus.

McGuire said he would seek an appointment with Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson Friday morning. Although the supreme court will not convene again until Oct. 7, any one of the nine justices can sign a stay order, the attorney said.

Judge Holtzoff had ordered the U. S. Marshal not to start Hemans back to Michigan before 4 p. m. (EST) today and the appellate court further extended the deadline to noon Friday to permit an appeal to the nation's highest court.

Hemans, former army major and University of Michigan regent, was accused by Michigan's one-man grand jury as the "go-between of bribe-givers and bribe-takers" in an attempt to block passage of the anti-branch banking bill in 1941.

Attorney General Says
Diversion Amendment
Will Freeze Sales Tax

BY JACK I. GREEN

Lansing, Sept. 26. (AP)—The sales tax would be frozen in the state constitution if the one-third sales tax diversion amendment passes this fall, according to an opinion of Attorney General Foss O. Eldred disclosed today by Governor Kelly.

Kelly, in a letter addressed to

John Reid, secretary of the Michigan Federation of Labor, said Eldred also was of the opinion the amendment would prevent future legislatures from changing that tax.

Reid had written the governor on the subject, declaring "We are particularly concerned with the possible effect it might have on circumscribing our efforts to bring about the repeal or reduction of this inequitable tax at the earliest moment the fiscal position of our state would permit such a step."

Labor groups have indicated they would fight the diversion amendment if they thought it would cement the sales tax constitutionally, since organized labor traditionally has been opposed to the sales tax.

Eldred's opinion, with which Kelly said he agreed, is exactly opposite from that given to sponsors of the sales tax amendment by municipal attorneys in Grand Rapids and Detroit, who held the amendment would not freeze the sales tax.

Kelly told Reid, after consulting Eldred, that the sales tax amendment "definitely" would "anchor" the sales taxes into the state constitution and would prevent any future legislature from abolishing the tax while the amendment was part of the constitution.

It also, Kelly said, would not allow the legislature to remove the sales tax from "some necessity of life (food for example)" unless it found some other sources of taxes to equal it.

HOUGHTON TECH
SHOOTING FATALROTC Air Commander
Found Dead In Hotel
With Bullet Wound

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 26. (AP)—Lieut. Col. Charles E. Coverley, 42, of Palo Alto, Calif., commanding officer of an Air ROTC unit at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology, was found dead in his hotel room today with a bullet wound in his forehead.

Houghton County Sheriff Emil J. Schumacher said a revolver was found on the floor near the bed and that the wound was self-inflicted. Schumacher said there would be no inquest.

Lieut. Col. Coverley served more than 11 years in the Army Air Corps, his record including two years duty in England, North Africa and Italy. He was attached to the 260th Army Air Base unit at Peterson Field, Colorado Springs, Colo., and only recently was assigned to the newly formed ROTC unit here.

Sheriff Schumacher said the colonel's wife was reported en route here by auto from Colorado and that efforts were being made to intercept her and inform her of her husband's death. He added that a note, addressed to Mrs. Coverley, was found near the body but declined to reveal its contents.

PARTY CHIEFS
DIFFER OVER
FOOD CONTROLMAYOR OF CHICAGO
FAVORS 60-DAY
SUSPENSION

BY WILLIAM R. SPEAR

Washington, Sept. 26. (AP)—President Truman, taking a stand in disagreement with some of his own party leaders, declared emphatically today price ceilings on meat should not be raised or scrapped.

With the meat shortage producing grave new complications, the president issued a statement saying:

1. The shortage is not due to price control but to an "extraordinarily large slaughter" in July and August when price controls were temporarily off.
2. There will be a "greater quantity and better quality of meat in the near future."
3. Present livestock ceilings are "fair and equitable."

Marketing May Improve

In addition to this statement, issued at his news conference, the president told reporters he saw no need for a special session of Congress to remedy the situation. He also expressed firm hope that any growers withholding cattle and hogs will now release them for market.

Even as the president was taking his stand, Mayor Kelly of Chicago told reporters he favored a 60-day suspension of meat price controls. House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts urged such a suspension yesterday.

In addition, the party's executive committee adopted a resolution today directing Chairman Robert E. Hannegan to "discuss with the decontrol board and any other proper authorities ways and means of increasing the meat supply available to the American people."

A reporter read the Democratic resolution to Mr. Truman, interpreting it to mean that its purpose was to press for removal of meat controls. Mr. Truman insisted that would not help the situation.

Then he was asked whether he disagrees with Hannegan on the question. He replied that the facts were in his statement and if Hannegan differs with them, then of course they do not agree. Hannegan as postmaster-general is a member of the cabinet.

Hannegan told newsmen later there is no disagreement between him and the chief executive. The members of the Democratic committee were entertained by the President and Mrs. Truman at tea later. Press Secretary Charles G. Ross described it as "purely a social affair."

Packers Blamed

The president's statement reported prospects "for temporary relief in the next few months" although "there may be periods in various parts of the country when meat is scarce." In additional comment Mr. Truman expressed stronger assurances that supplies will improve and urged that people be patient.

The presidential statement followed a fresh batch of demands from Congressmen and others urging federal action.

Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.) charged "collusion" among the packers to hold off on purchases in a campaign for price decontrol and tele-

RICH REPORTS 'GOOD HUNTING'

Takes Pictures Of Bear, Moose, Caribou And Other Wildlife

BY PHIL RICH

McKinley Park, Alaska — We have just returned from one of the finest trips we have made in Alaska and photographed moose, bear, caribou, sheep, sandhill cranes and a variety of other animals to our heart's content. Travelled more than 450 miles inside and out of the park; saw some mining operations; met one of the great characters of the Khatishna hills and saw Michiganders and others who had met various Michigan men on trips here.

In our first two trips through the big park we had gone back as far as Polychrome Pass, some 55 miles where the bridge was out. First trip was a disappointment because we had seen little game and did not have a chance for good pictures. We were all set to go on to Anchorage after the second trip, which was better than the first and had just attended a movie show in the hotel when we ran into and had a long talk with H. M. Peterson, the manager; M. J. MacDonald of the Alaska Railroad and Alfred C. Kuehl of the National Park Service. They changed our plans.

Meet Louis M. Corbley
Next day, instead of leaving by the government railroad we were off for a real trip. They took us out to the bridge construction and there we were met by Louis M. Corbley, who has been running the summer camp with his wife at "ag", which is used to be the end of the road where a sign pointed to Muldrow glacier. This camp is known as Eielson.

Lou Corbley was driving a rugged ten-wheel Army truck and it negotiated the road with no trouble. He used to be chief ranger at the park and is the kind of a man you like the minute you set eyes on him.

On our first trip to the park, we had seen a couple of Toklat grizzlies but no sheep. The second trip five sheep and four bears but when we met Lou there he had several large herds of wild Dall sheep. I believe 18 in all and we forthwith spotted two big herds on the mountainside—one of them low down on the hill.

Sheep Good Actors
We made a few pictures and then I asked Lou if he'd mind waiting while I tried for some close-up movies. He agreed and I went over and started to photograph them on the mountain. They were good actors and the ewes and lambs came right on down the mountain and to within 150 feet of the point of rock where I was working. Then they swung back on the hill so I climbed above them. The wind was just right and they obligingly came up close again for more movies.

On the way up to Wonder Lake we saw another big Silver-tip bear coming down a small ravine, but before we could get a picture he dashed off across the hill. So we went on to the Corbley's camp. We had only been there a short time and were photographing some parka squirrel, chubby little stub-tailed fellows, when Lou spotted two yearling grizzlies down the road. The larger mother bear soon called for them and they went off up the canyon. It was too late for pictures.

Some of these bear can be tough. Recently Mrs. Corbley was chased by one that had been coming into the camp. She had an armload of folding chairs and when she dropped them with a clatter, the bear became frightened and ran away. It was later destroyed by a ranger for fear it might injure someone around the camp. They are wild and tough!

Mrs. Corbley (a civil engineer) is an excellent cook and put up one of the outstanding meals we have eaten in Alaska. Anyone who is fortunate enough to sample her home cooking will come away satisfied. And she is jolly and provides a real "make yourself at home" atmosphere. They were closing the camp, but had time to take care of us in grand shape. We were heading for the home of Johnnie Busia, who is a trapper and prospector 25 miles back beyond Eielson in the Khatishna hills, and Lou said he'd take us back "anytime."

We wondered about our reception, since Johnnie didn't know we were coming, and we had no grub, but the Corbleys assured us that there was no need for worry. "Johnnie will take care of you." But that is another story. Johnnie did and how!

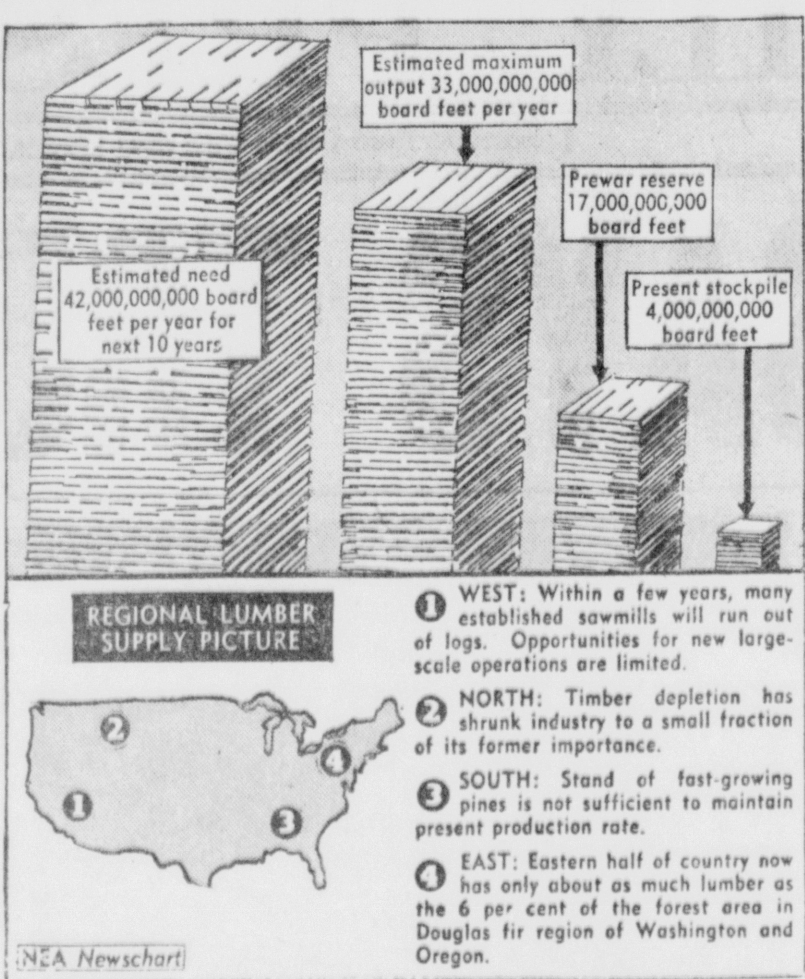

We took off in the truck with Mrs. Corbley riding in the covered back, because "I've always wanted to do it." And so we met Johnnie.

U. P. Queen Event Will Be Repeated

Because of the success of the first such event, C. E. Bishop, of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau's staff, and Mrs. G. C. Meyland, Marquette, have been requested to plan for repetition of the U. P. State Fair Queen's contest in 1947.

Fifteen cities and twelve counties were represented in this year's contest at the State Fair in Escanaba, at which 17-year-old Colleen Rapette, Route 1, Gladstone, was selected queen. Miss Rapette also was chosen 1945 Upper Peninsula potato queen at the annual show in Menominee.

Bishop and Mrs. Meyland hope to attract all dairy, potato, winter sports and other festival queues

Police Chief Held For Beating Negro Who Became Blind

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 26 (AP)—A criminal information alleging he beat and tortured a negro veteran last February 12 was filed by the justice department in federal district court here today against Police Chief Lynwood Lanier Shull of nearby Batesburg.

District Attorney Claud N. Sapp said the court would officially notify Shull of the filing of the information, similar in effect to a grand jury indictment, and set bond for his release until November court term here.

Shull, informed of the justice department's action by the Associated Press, said "this is the first I have heard of it."

A justice department announcement at Washington said the negro, Isaac Woodward, Jr., of the Bronx, N. Y., was "permanently blind as a result of the alleged beating."

Beef Packers Map Drive To Get Rid Of Price Controls

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

Washington (AP)—Beef packers mapped a drive to get rid of price controls with the announced aim of returning meat to the butcher shops.

Their action came amid these other developments:

1. The special house committee on food shortages announced public hearings on the meat scarcity to start Monday in Boston.

2. The Agricultural Department reported that production by federally-inspected slaughterers last week was 70,000,000 pounds compared with 293,000,000 pounds in the corresponding week last year. Last week's output, however, was 10,000,000 pounds above the previous week.

3. Aides of Price Administrator Paul Porter said the meat shortage has been expected because of heavy marketings of livestock while price lids were removed.

"We see no easing in the present meat shortages before the end of October," an OPA spokesman said. "By that time cattle and hogs should begin moving in from feed lots under ceiling prices."

Brazil Is Chosen For Eclipse Study

Washington—An expedition of American scientists will observe the next total eclipse of the sun from a site about 400 miles north of Rio de Janeiro. An open field on a cattle ranch near the town of Bocayuva has been selected as headquarters for those going under the auspices of the National Geographic Society and the Army Air Force.

On May 20, 1947, the sun will be hidden behind the moon for fortunate observers along the path of totality which crosses South America, the Atlantic Ocean and Africa. Partial phases of the eclipse will be visible over all of South America and Venezuela. People at sea, on the Atlantic Ocean between South America and Africa, may also see the sun partially hidden. Partial phases will also be visible from all of Africa except the northern tip of Tunisia, the Red Sea, the southern and western part of Arabia and the western half of Madagascar.

graphed Attorney General Clark demanding an investigation.

Senator Green (D-R.I.), here for the Democratic policy meeting, similarly told reporters that the shortage "looks like a strike of meat producers."

A statement from the CIO cost of living committee, reporting "a terrific meat famine" in prospect, said that "this can be attributed solely to the drive of the meat packers in creating this artificial shortage in order to eliminate the controls on the prices of meat."

Senator Mead (D-N.Y.) released a telegram to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson saying that "if a conspiracy among the big packers exists to keep meat off the market * * * federal authorities should exert all their power and influence to expose the conspirators." Mead declared that "a national emergency is at hand" and urged a council of various government agencies "to take immediate action."

Mr. Truman, commenting on Sabath's demand, noted that the Congressmen lives in the meat center of Chicago. But he said that if there is such a conspiracy as Sabath charged, he knows nothing about it and that he does not think it is a fact.

Sabath called the situation "a strike of organized greed against the American people."

London Sex Slayer, Ex-Fighter Pilot, Sentenced To Death

London, Sept. 26 (AP)—As calmly as though he were sipping a cup of tea, ex-Fighter Pilot Neville George Clevely Heath heard himself sentenced to death today for the mutilation murder of attractive Margery Gardner, artist and movie extra.

A jury of 10 men and two women found the handsome, 29-year-old man-about-town guilty after an hour's deliberation, rejecting his counsel's plea that it save Heath from the hangman by finding him insane—"mad as a hatter" was the lawyer's phrase.

Heath had admitted whipping, biting and suffocating Mrs. Gardner, 33, in his London hotel room last June 21, as well as cutting the throat and slashing the body of beautiful Doreen Marshall, 21, less than two weeks later at the fashionable seacoast resort of Bournemouth.

OIL PRODUCED FROM SHALE

Electrical Distillation Method Is Used In Sweden

By WATSON DAVIS
Chicago, (SS.)—Petroleum is produced in Sweden by a unique system of electrical distillation drilled into beds of oil shale. Superheated tomatoes and other vegetables are by-products for years afterwards.

Dr. Gustav Egloff, Universal Oil Products Company chemist, who has just returned from a trip to Scandinavia, described to me during the American Chemical Society meeting here today the $25,000,000 Swedish project that is making chemical history by getting the oil out of oil shale without mining and transporting tons of earth to a refinery.

An outgrowth of the war emergency when Sweden found itself almost fully dependent upon wood from its forests for heat and power, the Tornberg oil shale project is located about 200 miles north of Stockholm.

The process works like this: Holes are drilled 50 feet into the oil shale and electrical resistance heaters are dropped into them and kept going for three months during a preliminary warming-up period. This is followed by a two-month oil production period when six holes are jointly connected to a pipe line that leads off the vapors, distilled out of the oil ground, to the refinery. After two months the oil in the shale is exhausted and the apparatus is moved on to an untapped part of the beds.

That is the end of the oil production operation, but when this land was put into agricultural production it was discovered that due to the heat remaining in the ground, vegetables were produced earlier and larger than usual.

Stalin Peace Talk Speaks For Itself, President Declares

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—President Truman said today that Prime Minister Stalin's statement on world affairs earlier this week speaks for itself. Mr. Truman told a news conference that he had no comment on what Stalin said.

The chief executive also told questioners that he has not yet decided on a new ambassador to Britain to succeed W. Averell Harriman, newly designated secretary of commerce.

Likewise, the president said he has made no decision on the naming of a commission on atomic energy.

Former WAC Must Stand Trial For Crown Jewel Theft

Frankfurt, Germany, Sept. 26 (AP)—Kathleen Nash Durant failed to convince a U. S. military court today it should not try her on charges of stealing the Kronberg castle jewels, and that the $1,500,000 array of gems should not be introduced as evidence.

The eight-man military court denied her plea that she had been discharged from the army before she was arrested in Chicago last June and that the army had no legal right to bring her back to Germany for trial.

A certificate of military service showing she was on "terminal leave" was introduced by her attorneys, who argued that it amounted to a release from the army.

The attorneys contended also that the army investigators who recovered the jewels in the home of Mrs. Durants sister, Mrs. John C. Loneragan, in Hudson, Wis., entered the home without a warrant and therefore obtained the evidence "illegally."

But the court also refused this plea, despite statements from Mr. and Mrs. Loneragan read to the court that "we were under considerable duress" and "men with guns all over the place had us almost crazy."

Purge Of Russian Collective Farm Graft Is Started

Moscow, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Soviet government's purge of collective farm officials accused of graft and other illegal practices has started with trials for eight men, one of whom is accused of misappropriating two suckling pigs and four sheep, front page stories in the Moscow press disclosed today.

Two district secretaries of the Communist party were among the defendants. The court action followed the recent decree signed by Prime Minister Stalin announcing that the government was cracking down on corruption in its vast system of collective farms, backbones of the Soviet agricultural economy.

Dismissal of a number of other farm officials from posts of responsibility and severe reprimands for some public prosecutors for failure to act in instances of graft on the farms, also were announced in the press.

Sen. Ferguson Plans Campaign Tour For Sigler In Peninsula

Detroit, Sept. 26 (AP)—Senator Homer Ferguson was included today by the Republican state central committee in a list of speakers who will take the stump next month to urge election of GOP gubernatorial candidate Kim Sigler and other Republican office seekers.

Ferguson will make a week long auto tour north of the Straits during the week of Oct. 20 to endorse Sigler, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg and Congressional candidates.

Sigler, meanwhile, will spend the rest of the week in the Detroit area and on Monday will start a quick tour that will include Lansing, Jackson and Bay City.

He will fly to the Upper Peninsula Oct. 11-12 for brief appearances at Houghton, Escanaba and Iron Mountain.

Welcome Prepared For Return Of King To Greece Sept. 28

Athens, Greece, Sept. 26 (AP)—Greek authorities made elaborate preparations today to welcome King George II back to his capital in a grim atmosphere of watchfulness.

The king was expected to return Saturday from his wartime exile in Britain.

The latest announced incidents from the north included the capture of a Greek frontier outpost and five Greek villagers by raiding bands which crossed the Yugoslav border.

A British foreign office spokesman in London said fighting was fiercest south of Yugoslavia and Albania and extended eastward to an area south of the Bulgarian frontier.

He emphasized that the British government had no intention of immediately withdrawing its troops from the country. The Daily Herald, Labor party organ, had reported "an early announcement of the date of our final withdrawal may be expected."

Roosevelt's Estate Totals $1,085,486 Subject To Taxes

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt's net estate, subject to New York State taxation, amounts to $1,085,486.80, a tax return filed today showed.

The late president's gross estate, before deductions for funeral expenses, debts and other costs totaling $736,400.90, was $1,821,877.70, the tax return filed with the Dutchess county surrogate by Henry Hackett, attorney and executor, showed.

Hackett said the total estate also included $119,111.50 which was not subject to New York taxation, making a total gross estate of $1,940,989.

Federal taxes have been paid and tax returns also have been filed in Georgia, the District of Columbia, Canada and the province of New Brunswick, Hackett said.

Deductions before taxation in New York included $59,804 for charitable and public bequests — among them the Hyde Park residence conveyed to the government and certain personal effects at the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park.

RENT CONTROL PLANNED HERE

Six U. P. Counties Will Be Affected, Says
Farrell

L. L. Farrell, Michigan state OPA director, announced Wednesday in Iron Mountain that an OPA rent control office will be established in this area to serve six Upper Peninsula counties—Chippewa, Delta, Dickinson, Marquette, Gogebic and Houghton. The office will be established not later than November 1.

In making the announcement, Mr. Farrell, who served as OPA director in the Upper Peninsula with headquarters at Escanaba before being transferred to Detroit, said:

"I had planned to issue this announcement within the next few days from my office in Detroit but since I am now in the territory to be affected by the new rent control office, it occurred to me that the people of this district who have been particularly concerned about, might as well know about it now."

Farrell declared that the action is the result of "persistent complaints" which have come particularly from the six counties listed, which Farrell referred to as the principal industrial districts of the peninsula. The control action may be extended, Farrell indicated, if there is sufficient showing for the need of it.

"We have had persistent complaints about exorbitant rentals in the counties mentioned here," Farrell said, "and the state board has concluded that there is a definite need for control in this area. The office to serve these six counties will be set up by not later than Nov. 1, and perhaps during October."

"There has been no decision, yet, where the office will be situated, or of whom the personnel will consist. We know only that there will be a control office, and that it will injure into the whole rent situation in this area. Similarly, there is no announcement, as yet, of the procedure to be followed, although the board has a considerable file of individual complaints."

"It may reasonably be assumed that a rollback period on rents will be established. It may be retroactive for several months, perhaps as far back as Jan. 1, of this year, but this, likewise, is uncertain in this formative stage of the plan. It would not be advisable, therefore, for any property-owner to rush in, now, in any effort to 'beat' a supposed 'dead-line' on rent-raising, for little if anything, would be gained by it."

Active Effort
Efforts towards establishment of rent-control was begun several months ago, when the veterans committee of Local 952, UAW-CIO, of Iron Mountain, the Dickinson county board of supervisors, city of Iron Mountain and other agencies adopted resolutions setting forth the persistent trend towards exorbitant rents, and urging an immediate inquiry.

Agents of the regional OPA office at Cleveland, Ohio, responding to these appeals, promptly indicated that inquiry was being made and that action could be expected.

Further details, the director said, would be forthcoming upon his return to Detroit.

RECEIVES SCOUT AWARD—Howard Dufour, cubmaster of pack 411, Jefferson school, has received recognition as a five year veteran volunteer leader in the Boy Scouts of America. Mr. Dufour's record as a cub leader has been outstanding. His record of service is as follows:

Served from April 1938 to April 1939 as cubmaster of Pack 441; from April 1939 to April 1940, as pack committee member; from March 1941 to April 1942, as cubmaster, and has a continuous record in this capacity up to the present time.

At present his pack has a registered roster of 38 Cubs. The pack has been active in nearly all cubbing activities held in Escanaba, with many of the cubs graduating into Scouting each year.

Mr. Dufour is married, and the father of two children. He is a member of St. Joseph Catholic church and of the Knights of Columbus. He has one son who is a Boy Scout in Troop 444.

The Five Year Veteran award is given after a volunteer has served a number of years in the multiple series of five. The award is given for five, ten, fifteen, years of service. The credentials for such an award are authorized by the local council and passed upon by the national council.

Employment Is Fairly
Stable In Delta
County

Most of the rise occurred in manufacturing industries as 22 factories recorded an increase of about 900, from 9,550 to 10,450. Advances also took place in 48 principal logging camps and sawmills and in the iron and copper mines.

Employment conditions in various counties were as follows:

Alger county—Employment steady—Job seekers number 280 (227 veterans)—Unfilled job openings at end of month dropped to 53, of which 40 were in logging and lumbering industry—Local mills fully staffed—Temporary road jobs and tree planting work expected to require 80 workers in September—Housing situation very acute, with building construction retarded by materials shortage.

Delta county—Employment fairly stable—Job seekers total 1,500 (1,250 veterans)—Job openings numbered 72 at end of August, of which 25 were in logging and lumbering industry—120 new applications for employment were received during the month, 81 from veterans.

Dickinson county—Employment increasing in largest local industry and construction work—Approximately 1,600 workers (1,100 veterans) seeking employment at end of August, compared with 1,900 (1,350 veterans) at end of July—Unfilled job openings at end of August numbered 27, compared with 15 at end of July—Unemployment expected to decrease during September when teachers and students return to schools and colleges.

Lake and Mackinac counties—Employment steady—Number of applicants seeking employment dropped from 449, 354 (veterans) at end of July to 428 (335 veterans) at end of August—Job openings active at end of August numbered 68 as compared with 43 at end of July—Logging and lumbering activities expected to expand during September.

Menominee county—Employment steady—Number of job seekers dropped from 507 (366 veterans) at end of July to 461 (45 veterans) at end of August—Job openings numbered 272 at end of month, 228 of which were in food products industry—Acute shortage of housing—A definite barrier in manning manufacturing industries in Menominee.

Schoolcraft county—Employment increasing—Number of available unemployed workers 193 (161 veterans)—Active job openings at end of August 37, of which 16 were in the logging and lumbering industry—Shortage of housing and building materials.

Why Rent Control?

THE Michigan OPA director, L. L. Farrell, has announced that a rent-control office will be established in this area, serving the counties of Chippewa, Delta, Dickinson, Marquette and Houghton counties.

Why a rent control office should be established at this late date at a time when the OPA organization itself is rapidly falling into public disrepute is difficult to understand.

It is true that there has been some rent pressures and some increase in rents, but the situation is no different than on many other cost of living factors, which have been steadily rising.

Undoubtedly there have been complaints filed with the OPA from this area protesting rent increases but a study of rentals will show conclusively that on the whole there has been no general rent gouging. An increase in rent, based upon increased operating costs, does not necessarily mean that there is rent gouging.

The housing situation in the six counties mentioned is not good, but then the housing situation is no better, probably worse, in counties like Schoolcraft and other areas in the peninsula for which no rent control is planned.

The cost of maintaining a rent control office to serve the six counties would be far out of proportion to the service rendered, if any.

The country has reached a point where less controls from federal bureaucracy, not more, is the order of the day.

Nearing 700 Mark

SINCE Staunton, Va., adopted the first system of manager government in 1908, a total of 697 cities in the United States and Canada have adopted the plan for efficient municipal administration.

Forty-nine cities have adopted the manager system so far this year, which is a record-breaking number for the average is 15 annually. Upper Michigan saw a wave of changes to the manager system of government in the 20's, with Escanaba taking the lead in the Upper Peninsula.

Officials of the International City Managers association attribute the boom in city manager government to the postwar financial difficulties that are facing many municipalities. These communities are in need of business like administrations like never before, for operating costs are no longer static.

Present day municipal problems cannot be solved satisfactorily by the playing of old-fashioned ward politics. Running the average American city is big business, not politician's play. No wonder more and more cities are turning to the manager system of government as a vehicle to carry them through their difficulties.

Stalin Talks Peace

IT IS at least encouraging to note that Premier Stalin of Russia believes that Russia and the capitalistic countries of the United States and Great Britain can collaborate in a friendly way for years to come.

This statement, made by the Russian dictator Tuesday, is contrary to remarks that Stalin is reported to have told his people on numerous times in the past—that capitalistic countries are attempting to encircle Russia and that a conflict would inevitably result.

The entire world hopes that Stalin is right, and if Russia sincerely believes in collaboration with the United States and Britain, that the Soviet Union makes a sincere effort for harmony. Thus far, virtually every course taken by Russia in the field of foreign affairs has been to increase the tension.

Perhaps it may be that Stalin is beginning to realize that the Russian policies in Eastern Europe are a mistake and that the sympathetic undertaking Russia once had in the United States is being dissipated.

At any rate, the next several months should reveal whether Stalin was talking only for propaganda purposes, or whether there actually will be a sincere effort from Russia to work in harmony with the other great powers for world peace.

Too Much Talking

NO WISER words have been said in the last few days than those spoken by James D. Mooney, president and board chairman of the Willits-Overland Motors, Inc. Mr. Mooney simply said that "people are talking instead of working" nowadays.

As a result, there is a shortage of consumer goods, labor is unemployed, and capital returns are steadily shrinking. Too much time is being wasted by labor, management and government officials in arguments over statistics and personal viewpoints, Mr. Mooney stated.

Free speech is a wonderful thing, but perhaps it has given many Americans the mistaken notion that mere talk will solve everything. Good real wages and economic stability will not be achieved by strikes and a lot of hot air. They will come when everyone gets back to steady jobs and really works. Wealth is created by production, not by merely raising wages, then ceiling prices, then wages again, and so on.

Fatal Endorsement

IF HENRY WALLACE, private citizen, has more success promoting his concept of American foreign policy than did Henry Wallace, Secretary of Commerce, it won't be the fault of the American Communist Party. For the domestic Reds, never embarrassed by inconsistency, managed to flout and contradict the Wallace policy in the course of endorsing it.

Mr. Wallace, in the speech that led to his Cabinet departure, said, "We should recognize that we have no more business in the political affairs of Eastern Europe than Russia has in the political affairs of Latin America, Western Europe and the United States."

But anyone who reads knows that Russia has long made a business of meddling disruptively in the political affairs of North and South America and Western Europe through resident Communist Parties, which follow Russian policy and party line as faithfully as a dog follows its master.

But just in case that practice had been forgotten, William Z. Foster, national Communist chairman, recalled it by attacking the President and American foreign policy in the same speech in which he endorsed Mr. Wallace.

ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY (Detroit News)

The St. Lawrence Seaway will come before the 80th Congress, in shape of a proposed agreement with Canada, with fairer prospects than any heretofore during the long years in which it has been a project.

Four supporters of the measure are up for election to the Senate, none with less than an even chance to succeed a Seaway opponent now in office, and it is expected that LaFollette and Shipstead, friends of the project, will be replaced by newcomers just as favorable.

A reorganization of Congress and its committee structure would enhance the margin of favor the measure has enjoyed in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, from which it must be reported.

In the event of a Republican majority in the House, the revamped committee entrusted with the measure would be headed by a long-time supporter from Michigan.

A mere preponderance of sentiment in a committee or in Congress will not, however, avail unless activated by a determination to see the measure through. Its friends outnumber its foes in the present Congress; yet it was still unfinished business when the lawmakers shut up shop.

The Seaway has never lacked friends in high places—seven Presidents have urged its completion, and influential voices have spoken for it on the Hill; but something more is called for. The opposition to it has been well-heeled, untiring and skilled in obstruction and the arts of delay.

It is clear that to succeed, the sentiment for it must not only be overwhelming in numbers but vigorously and resolutely applied from the first day of a session onward. Two years—the maximum life of a Congress sitting in continuous session—is not too long if hearings are to be held, all the foreseeable delays and contrived obstacles to the Seaway swept aside, and the measure enacted.

SAVE THE BRIDE'S NERVES (Detroit News)

At Houghley, England, the bride hereafter will not be "given away" in any marriage at which the local vicar officiates. He has eliminated the question wherein the phrase appears, as a relic of times when woman was legally a chattel.

He can anticipate, we think, a generally favorable response to the deletion although here and there a qualifying voice may ask if the formal query was not intended to imply the transfer of the bride from the father's fond care to the groom's protection, rather than a property transaction.

About another section of the rite, we have long had doubts, namely: That awkward pause when it is suggested that if anyone knows of any reason why the affair should not proceed, let him speak now.

Our own impulse is always to look around to see if—as the old melodramas have schooled us to expect—a discarded suitor will crash the scene and bellow "Stop!" And we have never been a bride. For her, the suspense of that moment must be terrific, and might, as a matter of ordinary pity, be dispensed with.

Some Chicago men have organized the "Keep Your Mouth Shut" luncheon club, which prohibits talking, speeches and gossip during meals. Women may attend if they keep quiet. Why don't they want women?

Loss interest in saving money and you'll lose interest in not saving it.

Installments would be a lot easier to handle if we could pay them by installments.

BY PETER EDSON

Washington (NEA)—In addition to national shortages of meat and housing, a national shortage of school marms and masters has showed up in Washington, and the National Education Association is swinging into action to see what might be done about it.

From all over the country come bad reports. Two hundred schools to be closed in Maine for lack of teachers. Forty-eight schools consolidated, but still 750 teaching vacancies in Kansas. Twenty-five hundred sub-standard substitutes hired in Virginia, 2800 in Oregon, 5000 in Kentucky. Two thousand more teachers needed in Ohio, 5000 in Texas, 7000 in Georgia. In Norwalk, Conn., a teacher strike for more pay.

What has happened is that the number of college and university students has jumped from last year's 1,400,000 to two million, while in primary and secondary schools the number is up from 25 to 28 million. And there are only 1,140,000 teachers to train them, says N. E. A. secretary Dr. Willard E. Givens.

To give all these 30 million youngsters a smattering of book learning, colleges are raiding high schools for teachers, high schools are raiding grammar schools, city schools are raiding country schools, and the rural schools are either hiring poor subs or closing down. Instead of the normal one-in-200 teachers being sub-standard and giving instruction under temporary licenses to teach, the number is now one-in-10.

—WAR YEARS WRECKED THE MACHINERY—

The whole mess is the result of five war years in which the educational machine has gone to pot. Since Pearl Harbor, some 530,000 teachers have quit teaching—an average of nearly 100,000 a year. In most cases they were not replaced. Army and Navy took their share because illiterate men were too dumb to fight. Marriage, retirement for old age, and death took their normal quotas of perhaps 25,000 a year, which was an average, prewar annual turnover in teaching ranks. Normal schools did not turn out replacements for either loss, because of reduced high school and college enrollment.

But by far the greatest casualties in the teaching ranks were for purely economic reasons. Salaries paid teachers weren't high enough to enable them to pay their bills. They quit teaching to take war jobs that paid more money, says Dr. Givens.

Teachers' salaries have increased from the prewar average of $1400 to $2000 a year today. But that's less than most day laborers are getting now, and even the average government worker gets $2600. Without casting aspersions on anyone, teachers should know more than either, or at least be paid as much.

—BETTER PAY IS FIRST RECOMMENDATION

Getting better pay to attract more and better-educated people into the teaching profession is the crux of the whole situation, as analyzed by the nine-member Commission on Teacher Education just organized in Washington under the chairmanship of Dr. W. E. Pelk, Dean of the School of Education, University of Minnesota. Almost the first recommendation that the commission came up with was a proposal that minimum pay for teachers be raised to the equivalent of $45 a week for all 52 weeks of the year, or about $2400 annually. It was further recommended that after 10 years, the college-trained teacher should be making $4000 a year.

Other recommendations are that the work load be reduced so that no teacher should be responsible for more than 25 or 30 students, in place of today's classes of 40 and 50, that better teacher pension plans be put in force, and that standards be raised for those admitted to teacher-training.

The need for federal assistance is also being given a good boost. The American educational bill is now put at two and a half billion dollars a year. But expenditures range from $35 a year per student in the poorer states to $169 in the more populous and richer states. To equalize the educational opportunity, federal aid of two billion dollars a year is being advocated, and will probably be proposed in the next Congress.

Today's 30 million students will increase to 34 million in the next few years, according to population studies. The birth rate is up and more youngsters are going to school for longer periods. That will create a demand for 200,000 more teachers. And it takes from three to seven years to train a good teacher.

popular. English of Shakespeare's day. Los Angeles: I am glad to see that you are an artformallogicalintetudinarian. But aren't you sometimes going to hyperpolyllabisequipedalianism?—H. B.

Answer: unph-unh.

Fort Wayne: A magazine article is titled: "Hitler Legend Comes a Cropper." It doesn't make sense to me. Shouldn't it be, "... Becomes a Cropper"?—L. D.

Answer: To "come a cropper" is a British expression meaning to fall headlong, as from a horse; hence, to fail disastrously in an undertaking. Since the expression is little known in this country, I should regard its use in American text as a stuffed-shirtism.

Hollywood: So, Time Magazine states that it is correct in saying "feel badly." I know that this makes you feel badly. Me? I feel badly, even more so.—J. M. H.

Answer: That you agree with me, and not with Time, makes me feel goodly, proudly, even happily.

Padadena: Should one say "ice tea" or "iced tea"? I find neither in the dictionaries.—B. A. B. S.

Answer: The customary spelling is "iced tea." But, in speaking, we all drop the "d" and call the drink, "ice tea." And, since the dictionaries recognize "ice cream" and "ice water" as best usage (instead of "iced cream" and "iced water"), I see no reason why the heavens should fall if we should spell the drink as we pronounce it—"ice tea."

Good Morning!

—By The Bugler—

THE NOON HOUR—it had been raining most of the morning, quite steadily. At the Webster school in North Escanaba, and in most other places in the city that was not high and there was little thought that even a moderate gale might develop. The children returned to school shortly after 1 o'clock and were in their class rooms at the Webster school. The Colonel docked at the Escanaba Coal & Dock company dock in North Escanaba and Jacob Ammel and Vern Sturdivant, operator and oiler, began operating the unloader. They were perched high above the piles of coal in the control room on the unloader trestle.

THE TORNADO—The sky became darker—and there was a peculiar whistling roar in the air. But that lasted for only a moment and the tornado struck without other warning.

At the district conservation office east of the fairground buildings the twister dropped low enough to rip down the flag pole—and it there began its path of destruction northeastward toward Ammel and Sturdivant perched in their little cage on the coal unloader at the dock. Teachers and students at the Webster school heard the roar of approaching wind and the building was suddenly enveloped in the center of the storm. The lights went out.

Outside the trees in the school yard were twisted, broken and flattened in a jumble of splintered trunks and branches. Flying debris broke windows in the school. Advertising signs along the highway were ripped down and scattered, while one metal-faced sign had its surface dented as if it had been the target for hundreds of missiles.

THE BENCH THAT DANCED—

The storm center moved on in a matter of ticking seconds, its whirling force scattering all except the most firmly fixed buildings.

Garages were the chief victims of the storm because they were comparatively light and not so sturdily built. People looked out to see their garages and outbuildings flying through the air, or tumbling along in pieces. One man grasped the windowsill in his kitchen and held on tightly, watching a heavy bench go prancing across his lawn much after the manner of a bucking bronco.

Scores of trees both large and small were pushed over or uprooted by the wind. In falling they broke electric power lines whose "live" ends lashed about in the wind sending streaks of sparks flashing in the dim light and the driving rain.

Moving onward toward the bay the twister hurled its might against the buildings along Sheridan road in the 15 and 16 hundred blocks, testing their strength and ripping away at exposed weaknesses. Advertising signs fell with a crash or were left dangling above the sidewalk. The front of one older building was picked off and hurled across the street, a distance of more than 40 feet.

OVER THE ORE DOCKS—The

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1936

Fire, believed to have started from defective wires, practically destroyed the Furbo plant, formerly the Lakeside company at Hermansville, Friday afternoon.

Wendell Lund, Washington, D. C., chief of the family selection division of the Resettlement Administration, visited here yesterday with his parents while enroute to Washington after a tour of the drought region in the west.

Gladstone—P. J. Lindblad, well known and highly esteemed Gladstone business man, died suddenly at his home, 513 Wisconsin avenue, at 11 o'clock last night. He was 65 years old.

Mrs. Carl Budtke, 45, of Munising, was fatally injured Saturday when an automobile in which she was riding, was struck by a Soo Line train at a grade crossing north of Rapid River, near the Dutch Mill. She died en route to a hospital in Escanaba.

20 Years Ago—1926

Lansing—Thomas E. Johnson, state superintendent of public instruction, tonight was served by state police with a summons to appear Oct. 6 at the office of Gov. Alex. J. Groesbeck to answer charges of malfeasance and misconduct in office.

Jack Williams, youngest son of Rev. and Mrs. R. C. G. Williams of the First Methodist church, who leaves Tuesday for Avoca to take the pastorate of a church, will be the youngest Methodist preacher in the state of Michigan.

Manistique—Prying the lock with a bar from the window, Albert Gould made his escape from the Manistique city jail Friday night but local officials located him on the west side of the city and he was immediately returned to the county bastille where he awaits action on charges of breaking and entering.

men of the freighter Colonel's crew heard the roar of the approaching tornado at the same time the wind had blown down power lines and the flag pole at the conservation headquarters a mile away. Ahead of the twister the wind was strong but not violent. Ammel and Sturdivant looked out of the windows in the control room on the trestle, down to the dock beneath, and the long outline of the Colonel alongside. The unloader was in the process of being moved so the bucket could be lowered into another hold of the Colonel.

It was only a matter of seconds until the wind would strike—and the air was loud with the roar of its approach. The twister, after hurling itself at the building along Sheridan road south of the C&NW ore docks, apparently lifted sufficiently to clear the ore docks. At least the docks were not damaged. Perhaps the docks were so sturdily built that they withstood the tugging force. In any event they were not damaged, but the wind flattened a building beyond them as it moved toward the Escanaba Coal company dock.

THE TRESTLE FALLS—There was no breathless hush such as you read about in storm stories. There was only the screech of the wind suddenly magnified into a rising howl. The air was filled with flying debris in the spearhead front of the twister—which struck the huge coal unloader with sufficient force to move it on its tracks. As the unloader moved crazily the lowered bucket caught in a hold of the Colonel and the trestle stopped, twisting it so that it swayed and then collapsed in the middle. Its crash was lost in the screech of

What do you want to know? We will answer questions on any subject not involving extended research. Legal or medical advice cannot be given. Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, and (IMPORTANT) MAIL THIS COUPON and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SERVICE BUREAU, 1217 Thirteenth St., Washington 5, D. Q. May children and widows of deceased veterans obtain guaranty of loans under the G. I. Bill?
A. No privilege is limited to veterans. A guaranty loan may continue however, if a loan had been obtained prior to the veteran's death.

Q. Is a medical examination necessary before rating action may be taken in the case of a World War II veteran who files a claim at the time of his discharge from service?
A. Ordinarily, the medical examination is not required at that time.

Q. I did not receive the last payment of my mustering out pay. Where should I inquire about the delay?
A. You should report the matter to your separation center, giving the date of discharge. Also give your latest address and enclose a photostatic copy of your separation papers.

Q. Why is there very often a fog over marshes and rivers at nighttime?
A. Because the air of marshes is almost always near saturation; and therefore the least depression of temperature will compel it to relinquish some of its moisture in the form of dew or fog.

Q. What is the population of North and South America?
A. About 300,000,000.

Q. Which part of the world is leprosy greatest?
A. Near Vellore, India, where, according to the American Mission to Lepers, the ratio of lepers is 124 per cent 1000 persons.

Q. Please furnish me with a formula for waterproofing fishing lines.
A. Boiled linseed oil, 2 parts; gold size, 1 part. Put in bottle, shake well, and apply with a piece of flannel, expose it to air, and dry. After using the line several times, it should have another coat, and repeat the application when necessary.

Q. Could a bird fly in a space devoid of air, even if it could exist without respiration?
A. It could not; as the bird rises simply by the resistance of the particles of air to the beating of its wings.

Q. What is the price of radium?
A. A gram has been quoted at $25,000; an ounce, $700,000.

In fact not one person in the path of the storm was injured, and the wind raged out across Little Bay de Noc and was gone. The tornado had written its whole destructive story in less than two minutes.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington — With the stock market "acting up" more than at any time in five years, no move has been made by President Truman or Secretary of the Treasury Snyder to bring the Securities and Exchange commission back from Philadelphia. Created by Roosevelt to protect the public from Wall Street, the SEC is still being carefully kept out of Washington—and certain interests hope it remains in exile.

Meanwhile, had Secretary Snyder consulted the SEC before making his ambiguous statement on the slump, he would have found a significant report regarding the entire stock market. Here are some of the inside facts shown in the SEC report.

1. Several weeks before the market nose dive, new issues of airplane and auto stocks failed to arouse public buying, so that the underwriting houses, stuck with the stocks, had to raise cash to pay for them. This meant they had to unload government bonds and blue-chip stocks such as Du Ponts and American Tel. and Tel. to get the cash. This was the first selling wave to sag the market.

2. Simultaneously, investment houses got wind of a new fear psychology. The public was afraid the long upward climb of the market was at an end. They wanted to sell before the downward trend started. Telltale sign was the fact that congressional defeat of OPA should have sent the market soaring, but didn't.

3. Later the commerce department issued a report that 18 billions in inventories had piled up on factory shelves, and that inventories were increasing at the rate of half a billion per month faster than goods are being consumed. This was a storm warning that the peak of the boom was passed.

4. The high employment rate (57 million in July) is due partly to the fact that the government is still spending 18 billions a year on armaments, almost three times the entire national budget in peacetime.

NOTE—On the other hand, the U. S. population increase plus the tremendous buying power still in the hands of the public, plus the continued scarcity of many consumer goods, should offset some of these downward factors. The country, according to Washington economists, is basically sound.

—NAPOLEON JOHN L. LEWIS—

John L. Lewis, the most powerful man in the American Federation of Labor, is now comparing himself to Napoleon.

Lunching with a friend who complimented him on his tremendous labor victories, Lewis swelled with pride as the friend recalled how John L. had bludgeoned more out of the White House for his miners than any other labor leader, had helped master-mind the AFL Seamen's strike and had even been praised by Robert U. Wason, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

"Don't you feel elated over all these victories?" asked the friend.
"No, not particularly," replied Lewis. "I guess Napoleon didn't feel particularly elated when he won a campaign he had planned for months."

—RUSSIA'S IRON CURTAIN—

At a time when US-USSR relations are the most delicate in history, the state department's program to sell the Russian people on American friendship has hit another snag. This time it is the army.

It took most of last spring and summer for the state department to sell congress on the importance of using propaganda to penetrate the "iron curtain." Finally, however, congressmen realized that the Russian people were being fed a barrage of anti-American poison and that something should be done to counteract it. So funds were voted to send U. S. radio propaganda abroad.

Shortly after this, the French, under pressure from Communists inside their government, ordered the state department to quit broadcasting from its powerful Algiers station. Of necessity, the state department has now turned to Germany.

We have ample radio facilities in Germany and expect to retain them for a long time. But believe it or not the U. S. army objects. Chief objector is conscientious Lieut. Gen. Lucius Clay, top administrator of the military government in the U. S. zone. General Clay, who has his problems, points out that propaganda broadcasts from the U. S. zone would be contrary to the Potsdam agreement unless the Russians are given the privilege of censoring American radio programs.

The state department counters with the reminder that the Russians have violated all sorts of agreements in their zone and there is no reason why we should continue to let Stalin get away with the claim, now taught by Moscow to the Russians and their Satellite peoples, that the Red Army alone defeated Japan.

NOTE—The state department is now trying to overrule Clay, may win out in the end.

CHALLENGE MET

(Marquette Mining Journal)

As enrollment at Northern Michigan College of Education drew to a close, it was apparent that housing accommodations had to be found for approximately 200 students, mostly veterans, who otherwise would be forced to drop out. The urgent appeal for rooms for a three-month period, pending erection of temporary dormitories at the college, was a challenge to the community. It was accepted and has been met. Rooms have been provided and it is assured that not a single student will have to cancel his registration.

Marquette has reason to be proud of its showing in this emergency and of its families whose generosity and sense of obligation made possible solution of the problem without use of the Palestra, the Veterans' center or other public buildings.

ESCAPED LIFER IS RECAPTURED

Taken In Custody In City Of Marquette
Early Yesterday

Steve M. Kelemen, Marquette prison lifer who escaped last Thursday, was recaptured about 6:20 a. m. yesterday morning on Front street in the city of Marquette after he was recognized by a prison guard who was returning to his home. The guard summoned police and with their assistance Kelemen was taken into custody. Kelemen was unarmed and offered no resistance.

Escaping from the Belanger prison farmhouse last Thursday afternoon where he was doing carpenter work, Kelemen was the object of an intensive search for six days and nights by law enforcement officers of the Upper Peninsula. Blockades were set up at strategic places on main highways, and officers encircled an area south of the prison where it was believed Kelemen was "hiding out".

Numerous reports were received by officers from persons who believed they saw Kelemen near Negaunee, Marquette and in the vicinity of Gwinn. One farmwife positively identified pictures of Kelemen as the man who had called at her home Monday evening and asked directions to Negaunee. Officers said they were inclined to believe the man was Kelemen, although they discounted most of the reports from other sources.

It was reported yesterday that Kelemen, following his apprehension, told Marquette police that he had become lost and had wandered into the city without knowing where he was.

Warden Gerald F. Bush said Kelemen is serving only one life sentence for a "grudge killing." Kelemen, he said, killed the husband of a former girl friend and was sentenced to a life term for that slaying in 1930. He was transferred to Marquette in 1935.

Local Men Join In Urging Passage Of Amendment No. 1

Herbert Norton of Escanaba, Joseph Herbert of Manistique, and Harold Earle of Blaney Park are included in a state committee of men interested in the future of aviation urging passage of Amendment No. 1 in the coming November referendum.

William B. Stout of Detroit, chairman of the state aeronautics commission, is chairman of the committee whose purpose is "to correct a flaw in the 'state law' which prohibits the expenditure of state funds for airport improvement purposes. Unless the law is amended there is no possibility that the state can undertake any airport development, nor can it match federal funds for badly needed improvements proposed in this state.

"The future of aviation in Michigan depends entirely upon a favorable reaction from the voters this fall," said Stout. "The committee, which is composed of leading citizens throughout the state, feels that if the individual voters of Michigan are acquainted with what passage of this amendment means to them and to the state as a whole, they cannot fail to go to the polls and vote 'Yes' on Proposal No. One," Stout added.

Other members of the committee in the Upper Peninsula are Harry King, Calumet; Joseph Green, Crystal Falls; Dr. Grover C. Dillman and C. F. Winkler, Houghton; Mario Fontana, Iron Mountain; William Gray, Marquette; George A. Osborn and John P. Old Jr. of Sault Ste. Marie.

Veteran Enrolls In College Here

Phillip W. Cochrane is among the veterans recently enrolled at the Cloverland Commercial college, where he will take a four-year course in accounting.

A native of New York City, Mr. Cochrane plans to make his home here. He and his wife reside at Wells. Mrs. Cochrane is the former Ethel Fransen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fransen of Escanaba.

Mr. Cochrane served for 39 months in the army, and was hospitalized for 13 months after being wounded in the battle of Hurtgen Forest in Germany. He was discharged last December, being awarded the Purple Heart, Combat Infantryman's badge, and European ribbon with two battle stars.

Before entering service, he attended Benjamin Franklin high school in New York City, where he received two letters in basketball.

MANY BUILDING JOBS PLANNED

City Approves Permits For New Construction Totalling $28,000

The construction of new buildings and the remodeling of existing structures in Escanaba at an estimated cost totaling $28,000 has been approved by the city, it is revealed in a report on building applications received so far this week at the office of the city clerk.

Largest of the proposed building projects is the construction of a $15,000 warehouse by C. G. Bridges, Escanaba contractor. The warehouse would be erected on land owned by Bridges a short distance west of the Cloverland Paper company building, and would be adjacent to the E&LS railroad. The location is on Sixth avenue north. Bridges yesterday said that he had also received the required federal approval for the building as well as the city permit.

Other building permit applications which have been approved by the city include:

Arthur Walsh, rebuilding a shed at 1611 Sixteenth avenue north which was razed in Tuesday's tornado. Estimated cost, $250 plus labor.

Mrs. Iver Wallin, construction of a basement at an estimated cost of $400 on Lake Shore Drive south of Pearl street.

Jules DeGrand, construction of a new home and garage at 513 South 12th street, $2,700; and construction of a dwelling and garage at 608 First avenue south at an estimated cost of $2,700.

Willard Johnson, construction of a new home costing $6,000 at 1805 Tenth avenue south.

Duwayne Hansen, remodeling of a dwelling at 514 South 12th street, estimated at $400.

John Loper, convert gas station to lunch room and build addition 25 by 20 feet, estimated cost of materials $600.

Peter Westerdahl, construct foundation for residence on Lake Shore Drive, estimated cost $250.

Air Color Tour Coming To U. P.

Aviation enthusiasts participating in the aerial "color tour" to be conducted Sept. 28 to Oct. 3 will see Upper Michigan during "our glorious autumn color season," but state aeronautics department officials will be missing a bet unless they give former Army and Navy pilots a chance to be present at receptions at each stop on the tour," George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, said here today.

Advertised as the nation's first all-cost aerial cruise, planes participating will make stops at Traverse City, Manistique, Crystal Falls, Marquette, Blaney Park, and Charlevoix. The cost of meals, lodging, entertainment and local transportation will be covered by the $50 entry fee. Wayne J. Sheldon, of the Michigan Department of Aeronautics, Lansing, is cruise manager.

During the Victorian era, ceramic tile was used in every building of consequence throughout Europe and Britain.

Rapid River Proclaims George Bishop Holiday

Reservations are being received daily by the committee in charge from state official and tourist and resort leaders in Lower Michigan, indicating the entire state, as well as the Upper Peninsula, will pay honor to one of its leading citizens on Wednesday, Oct. 9. The reservations are for the testimonial banquet for George E. Bishop on completion of his twenty-fifth year as Secretary-Manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau.

The banquet will be served in the Masonic Temple, Marquette at 7:00 p. m. Earlier in the day, a memorial cairn will be dedicated at Rapid River in honor of Bishop, on a site donated by the Rapid River citizens, where a park will be developed. Following the dedication, a motorcade will come to Marquette for a reception for Bishop in the Masonic Temple from 5:30 to 7:00 p. m.

Slightly less than 500 seats will be available for the testimonial banquet in the Masonic Temple, so persons who have been invited and who desire to attend are asked to return reservation cards not later than October 1 to Ralph M. Sheehan, Executive Secretary of the local coordinating committee.

Rapid River has declared October 9 a holiday in observance of the occasion and a dedicatory parade is being planned from the town to the memorial site. High school bands, as well as other students from both Rapid River and Gladstone, will attend the dedication program.

"Rapid River has been given a distinct honor in being selected as the site for the memorial cairn to George E. Bishop," said Harry Buckman, businessman and Lions Club executive who has been active in promoting the memorial event.

Governor Harry F. Kelly will head the list of state executives coming to Marquette and the Upper Peninsula on October 9 and will give the principal address at the testimonial banquet. Other state officials who have notified the local coordinating committee they will be present are Lieutenant Governor Vernon J. Brown, Auditor General John Morrison, Highway Commissioner, Charles Zeigler, Conservation Department Director, P. J. Hoffmaster, while tourist and resort industry leaders who will be here include S. Valentine Saxby, President of the Minnesota Arrowhead Association, J. Leo Dolan, Executive Secretary of the Canadian Travel Bureau; William Palmer, Secretary-Manager of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association; Joseph Bachunas, Sodus, Mich., resort operator; Frank Davis, Secretary-Manager of the East Michigan Tourist Association, and P. L. Radcliffe, Chairman of the Michigan Tourist Council.

Tributes to Bishop, whose efforts in building up the tourist industry in Michigan along with development of the Upper Peninsula have long been recognized throughout the midwest, are contained in a brochure now being printed. Governor Kelly, U. S. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Eugene B. Elliott, Superintendent of the Michigan Department of Public Instruction, and many others have sent messages for the brochure, which is being published by Joseph J. Bachunas, resort operator of Sodus, Michigan.

Garden Couple
Exchange Vows At
St. John Church

St. John's church at Garden was the scene of a lovely early fall wedding on Sept. 21, when Alva Boudreau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Boudreau, became the bride of Gerard Thibault, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alpha Thibault.

The Rev. Ralph Sterbentz performed the double-ring ceremony before the altar which was decorated with white and pink gladioli and baskets of asters.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of blushing peach satin, made with an old fashioned hoop skirt extending into a long circular train. The draped hip line was edged with Spanish lace with a large bow bustle effect. The long sleeves came to points at the wrists, and the off-the-shoulder yoke of illusion was edged with satin and lace ruffle. She wore a gold chain and cross, and carried a satin-covered prayer book adorned with a white orchid. Her illusion finger-tip veil was attached to a queen's crown of lace and silver sequins.

The bride chose as her attendants her three sisters, Mrs. Norval Farley, matron of honor, wore a gown of aqua embroidered taffeta with a matching crown fashioned of veiling and flowers. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of asters and gladioli.

Mrs. Myron Farley of Garden and Mrs. Louis Guertin of Detroit wore identical gowns of yellow embroidered taffeta, and carried old fashioned bouquets.

Rolih Thibault served as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Gerard Bernier and Howard Pelletier.

Mrs. Boudreau wore a dark blue dress with a corsage of yellow asters. Pink flowers accented the medium blue dress worn by Mrs. Thibault.

Breakfast was served to the bridal party at the home of the bride's parents, where a 5:30 o'clock dinner was served later to 50 guests.

When the couple left for their wedding trip, the bride wore a blue suit with black accessories. The bride was formerly employed

DAV Will Hold Forget-Me-Not Sale Saturday

Blue Forget-Me-Not, flowers of remembrance, will be sold in Delta county on Saturday, Sept. 28 by Escanaba Chapter 24, Disabled Veterans, in an annual drive for funds for the rehabilitation of disabled veterans of World War I and World War II.

Plans for the flower sale were announced by Robert G. Olson, commander of the D.A.V. chapter. Headquarters for the drive will be the city hall from which a force of volunteer salesgirls will canvass the city.

"The entire proceeds from our annual Forget-Me-Not sale," Commander Robert Olson said, "will be used for the chapter rehabilitation program. To further the rehabilitation of disabled veterans the service officer of the D.A.V. offers free assistance in obtaining claims."

The D.A.V. commander said the Forget-Me-Not drive has been endorsed by President Truman who said, "I sincerely hope that the drive will be attended by every resident of this community."

Commander Olson said, "In the continuance of our program on behalf of the war's disabled. The

Chicago Quartet Will Open Town Hall Series

The Philharmonic Quartet of Chicago, widely known in the radio world, will appear here in November at the Oliver Memorial auditorium to open the Town Hall series.

This well known quartet was organized in 1936, and with one exception, the same individuals are still 'original' members. For almost four years this group confined their singing to radio, and their personal appearances were limited to special engagements within the Chicago area. Only within the last four years have they been able to tour extensively, and because of their popularity they are invariably asked to return each year to the same cities with very little opportunity to include new cities enroute. However, this year they are planning to 'invade' cities never before visited, and where there has been a demand for their appearance.

Radio activities found these individual voices as staff artists for three years with WGN—Mutual network. The broadcasts were from the beautiful audience studio of WGN Chicago. The shows were The Pageant of Melody and Concert Review, both conducted by Henry Weber. These same shows are now The Chicago Theater of the Air, which are broadcast each Saturday evening from Chicago. Other WGN shows sung were the Melodies from the Skies and Swing Time—both conducted by Harold Stokes, the popular band director.

Many times these voices were heard over other network shows, such as Templeton Time, with Alec Templeton in person; Raleigh Cigarette program; Sunbrite Hour and The Northerners, directed by Harry Walsh, and others.

For three seasons they are featured at the big Chicagoland Music Festival held in Soldier Field, Chicago, where the greatest audience of music loving people anywhere in the world assembles. Phil Maxwell, the director, is responsible for the gathering of 90,000 people at each festival; the top attendance reached this year with over 95,000 present. This gives the Quartet an attendance record for three appearances of over 270,000 listeners.

While speaking of attendance, it is also of interest that in their personal appearances the colleges and high schools have come in for their share of enjoyment, for the Quartet has sung to over 220,000 students in personal appearances and many leading Musical Clubs in the middle-west. Some of these concerts have been in subscription series, and others for benefits of local organizations, sponsored by a club or professional group.

GETTING MORGAN DATA

Ishpeming—Prof. Paul Kosok, of Long Island university, is spending a week in Marquette county seeking further information on Lewis Henry Morgan, whose biography he is planning to write.

Morgan is the man for whom John Viking, Ishpeming resident, has been seeking recognition for several years.

Prof. Kosok expressed hope that others would take up the battle with Viking, for he said that unquestionably some of the best scientific writing on the American beaver was done by Morgan.

The author was a man of many interests. He was a business man, practical engineer and lawyer. In his later life he turned to science and the National Congressional Library contains many of his writings.

Magner, Bishop of the Marquette Diocese, presiding. Father Gerard LaMothe, nephew of the deceased, conducted the mass. The "Office of the Dead" was read at 10:00 o'clock with Rev. Fr. Albert Pelissier, Iron Mountain, Rebdomary.

The mass was sung by Diocesan Priest's choir under the direction of the Rev. Mathias LaViolette of Flat Rock. Rev. Wilfred Peltier was organist. Members of the choir were: the Rev. Fathers Nolan McKevitt, Anthony Schloss, T. P. Dunleavy, Clifford Nadeau, Norbert Freilburger, Ambrose Matejcek, William Schick, Robert Chisholm and David Spelgatti.

The Rev. D. J. Breault of St. Joseph Parish, Hancock, a lifelong friend of Father LaMothe, delivered the eulogy. He pointed out that like the Good Shepherd of the Bible narrative, Father LaMothe gave his life for his sheep in and out of season he labored for the good of their souls. Unparalleled eloquence was the great gift of the deceased and there is hardly a church in the diocese wherein he has not spoken he said. "One diocese mourns him, you mourn him," he told the large assembly, "and we priests will feel that no gathering is complete without him."

"If human standards be the measure of a man's life, then the death of Father LaMothe is indeed untimely, but we know that God looks not at the 'how' long but at the 'how' of our lives," he said. Asking the people whom he loved and served Father Breault said, "You have loved him in life, you will cherish him in your prayerful memory."

After the funeral, the cortege left for Hubbell. Absolution services were held at St. Cecilia's church, Hubbell with burial at Mount Calvary cemetery, Lake Linden.

Active pallbearers who accompanied the body to Hubbell were: Henry S. Martin, William Dore, Ernest Johnson, Alphonse Chaltrey, David Depew and Jake Phillips.

They're Singing Hymns
On Grandfather Mountain

Aunt Becky: At 91, she remembers old gospel songs forgotten by the hymn books

Linville, N. C. (NEA)—Grandfather Mountain resounded with song. Folks came from miles around—20,000 of them from North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Kentucky and Georgia to hear the singin' and the preachin'.

They jammed the rolling meadow at the foot of "Old Grandfather." There were youngsters whose voices were tuneless and there were oldsters like Aunt Becky Tester who wouldn't let her 91 years keep her at home in Sugar Grove when there's real singin' to be done.

This was the day the "song masters," who still thrive throughout the rural south, had waited for. They had spent months in training their duets, trios, quartets and choirs. This was the day for which country preachers saved their most "rousin'" sermons.

This was the day of the "Singin' on the Mountain" the biggest "singin' convention" of them all.

For 22 years, the "Singin' on the Mountain" has been held at the foot of "Old Grandfather." Each year it has grown in size and importance. For not only do all the country folk and farmers come; cousins and friends who have strayed to the cities return in sleek cars and new clothes to revive old memories and to renew old acquaintances.

Dinner is "on the ground," picnic style, and the huge hampers that each country family brings assures plenty of food for all.

Big Joe Hartley, a farmer, his mustache bristling, was chairman of the "sing." But the real glory went to the "song masters" who "sounded" their tuning forks and lead the groups through the high nasal harmony of rural gospel favorites. And to the preachers who decried the sin of worldliness and liquor.

It was Linville's greatest day.

The new cases are Mary Ann Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nelson, Foster City; James Moeller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Moeller, Land O'Lakes, Wis., and Frank Miotti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Miotti, Stambaugh.

Moeller was brought to Marquette from Land O'Lakes yesterday in an airplane.

Twelve other Upper Peninsula residents and one from Pembine, Wis., suffering from polio, have been brought to St. Luke's hospital this year.

Philip Collins left for Marquette Saturday to attend Northern State Teachers College.

Miss Rosemary McElheron of Marquette returned to her home Wednesday after visiting at the home of Mrs. Alvina Collins.

Mrs. Norma Browley, who is teaching school at McMillan, spent Saturday and Sunday here at her home. She was accompanied by her son Garry.

Atomic Bomb Blast

had just completed his training at the Eastern Medical university in Tsingtao, China. He was something of an idealist and was much distressed by the inadequacy of medical facilities in the country town where his mother lived.

Quite on his own and without a permit, he had begun visiting a few sick people out there in the evenings, after his eight hours at the hospital and four hours' commuting. He had recently learned the penalty for practicing without a permit was severe; a fellow doctor whom he had asked about it had given him a serious scolding. Nevertheless, he had been at the bedside of a country patient when the police and the doctor he had consulted burst into the room, seized him, dragged him outside, and beat him up cruelly.

On the train, he just about decided to give up the work in Mukai, since he felt it would be impossible to get a permit, because the authorities would hold that it would conflict with his duties at the Red Cross hospital.

At the terminus he caught a streetcar at once. (He later calculated that if he had taken his customary train that morning, and if he had had to wait a few minutes for the streetcar, as often happened, he would have been close to the center at the time of the explosion and would surely have perished.) He arrived at the hospital at 7:40 and reported to the chief surgeon.

A few minutes later, he went to a room on the first floor and drew blood from the arm of a man in order to perform a Wasserman test. The laboratory containing the incubators for the test was on the third floor. With the blood specimen in his left hand, walking in a kind of distraction he had felt all morning, probably because of the dream and his restless night, he started along the main corridor on his way toward the stairs.

He was one step beyond an open window when the light of the bomb was reflected, like a gigantic photographic flash, in the corridor. He ducked down on one knee and said to himself, as only a Japanese would, "Sasaki, gambare! Be brave!" Just then (the building was 1,650 yards from the center) the blast ripped through the hospital. The glasses he was wearing flew off his face; the bottle of blood crashed against one wall, Japanese slippers zipped out from his feet—but otherwise, thanks to where he stood, he was untouched.

Dr. Sasaki shouted the name of the chief surgeon and rushed around to the man's office and found him terribly hurt by glass. The hospital was in horrible confusion: Heavy partitions and ceilings had fallen on patients, beds had overturned, windows had blown in and cut people, blood was spattered on the walls and floors, instruments were everywhere, many of the patients were running about screaming, many more lay dead.

(A colleague working in the laboratory to which Dr. Sasaki had been walking was dead; Dr. Sasaki's patient, whom he had just left and who a few moments before had been dreadfully afraid of syphilis, was also dead.) Dr. Sasaki found himself the only doctor in the hospital who was unhurt.

Dr. Sasaki, who believed that the enemy had hit only the building he was in, got bandages and began to bind the wounds of those inside the hospital; while outside, all over Hiroshima, maimed and dying citizens turned their unsteady steps toward the Red Cross hospital to begin an invasion that was to make Dr. Sasaki forget his private nightmare for a long long time.

Miss Toshiko Sasaki, the East Asia Tin Works clerk, who is not related to Dr. Sasaki, got up at 3 o'clock in the morning on the day the bomb fell. There was extra housework to do. Her 11 month old brother, Akio, had come down the day before with a serious stomach upset; her mother had taken him to the Tamura Pediatric hospital and was staying there with him.

Miss Sasaki, who was about 20, had to cook breakfast for her father, a brother, a sister, and herself, and—since the hospital, because of the war, was unable to provide food—to prepare a whole day's meals for her mother and the baby, in time for her father, who worked in a factory making rubber ear plugs for artillery crews, to take the food by on his way to the plant.

When she had finished and had cleaned and put away the cooking things, it was nearly 7. The family lived in Koi and she had a 45 minute trip to the tin works, in the Machi. She was in charge of the personnel records in the factory.

She left Koi at 7 and as soon as she reached the plant she went with some of the other girls from the personnel department to the factory auditorium. A prominent local navy man, a former employee, had committed suicide the day before by throwing himself under a train—a death considered honorable enough to warrant a memorial service which was to be held at the tin works at 10 o'clock that morning.

In the large hall, Miss Sasaki and the others made suitable preparations for the meeting. Their work took about 20 minutes.

Miss Sasaki went back to her office and sat down at her desk. She was quite far from the windows, which were off to her left, and behind her were a couple of tall bookcases containing all the books of the factory library which the personnel department had organized.

She settled herself at her desk, put some things in a drawer and shifted papers. She thought that before she began to make entries in her lists of new employees, discharges, and departures for the army, she would chat for a moment with the girl at her right.

Just as she turned her head away from the windows, the room was filled with a blinding light. She was paralyzed by fear, fixed still in her chair for a long moment (the plant was 1,600 yards from the center).

Everything fell, and Miss Sasaki lost consciousness. The ceiling dropped suddenly and the wooden floor above collapsed in splinters and the people up there came down and the roof above them gave way; but principally, and first of all, the bookcases right behind her swooped forward, and the contents threw her down, with her left leg horribly twisted beneath her. There, in the tin factory, in the first moment of the atomic age, a human being was crushed by books.

VET COUNSEL OFFICE MOVED

Now Housed In The City
Tourist Information
Building

The Schoolcraft County Office of Veterans' Affairs is now housed in the tourist information bureau building, the move being made the first of the week from the Veterans' Affairs office in the Manistique Bank building.

The office will likewise serve as headquarters for the Schoolcraft - Manistique Chamber of Commerce, as Leonard Mulhaupt, veterans' counselor, has also assumed duties as secretary of that organization. It will also continue to serve as a tourist information headquarters which services are still in brisk demand by the traveling public.

Attractive signs will be placed in front of the building informing the public of the uses to which the building is being put. The telephone number has been changed from 370-W to No. One.

While veterans' affairs will still take up most of the time of the office, the press of Chamber of Commerce duties will increase as veteran problems decline. The move, according to members of the county board of supervisors, not only puts this splendid building to practical year-round use, but effects a saving in rental as well.

Local Entertainment
Plans Nearly Complete

Plans for entertainment for residents of Lower Michigan who will visit Manistique next Monday as part of the Michigan Aviation Color Cruise, are well under way according to Leonard Mulhaupt, Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Initial plans had to undergo a change because the local committee is still unable to determine how many will participate in the cruise. To date twenty-five planes have been chartered for the trip in which Traverse City, Manistique, Crystal Falls, Marquette, Blaney Park and Charlevoix will be visited.

The primary purpose of the cruise, as its name would indicate, will be to see this area while the hardwood forests are at the height of fall coloring.

Part of the entertainment planned locally, will be a motor tour of the area with the Big Spring as the main stop. Other entertainment is in the making, but this will not be announced until the number of visitors is fully ascertained.

The planes will arrive at the Schoolcraft county airport east of the city about 10 o'clock in the morning and will leave Tuesday morning for Crystal Falls about 9 o'clock. Transportation to and from the airport will be provided locally. The cruise will start off from Traverse City on Saturday morning and wind up at Charlevoix on the following Friday morning.

NIGHT GAME TO CLOSE SEASON

Stadium Lights Likely To Be Completed For Graveraet Game

The Manistique high school football team will play at least one game this season under the bright lights.

That is the prediction of Harvey Quick who is installing a lighting system at the football stadium.

The contract for this project was let early last summer, but due to the shortage of material—particularly wiring—completion of the work was seriously delayed.

Sixty-foot steel poles, each equipped with eight high voltage lights are being set up and with the lights turned on, afternoon football games will then become Friday evening functions instead of events of Saturday afternoon.

The last game of the season will be with Graveraet high school of Marquette and if a night game will be on October 25.

Plans of the Manistique Recreation Board to have a skating rink at the quarry pool may also be changed with the installation of lights. With lights available at the stadium, that place will likely be flooded and made into a rink.

BELLAIRE NEW RED CROSS HEAD

Succeeds Fred Hahan
As Chairman Of Local Chapter

Fred H. Hahan, for the past several years chairman of the Schoolcraft county chapter of the American Red Cross, has resigned, and John I. Bellaire, vice chairman, has assumed his duties.

This was revealed in word received here Wednesday from the Midwestern Area Headquarters at St. Louis, in which Mr. Hahan's resignation was accepted with regret. The work of Mr. Hahan was praised and the wish expressed that he will continue to serve the chapter when and wherever possible.

The budget forms have been turned over to Mrs. Antone Weber and Mr. Bellaire assigned to the chairmanship until the new election is held.

A HERO AT FOUR—Proud youngster is four-year-old Dennis Aguilera, of Manly, Ia., pictured as Gov. Robert Blue pins on him the state's official gold medal for heroism. Dennis, the youngest person ever to win the award, carried his three-year-old sister to safety when their home caught fire last January.

EACH DOLL HAS ITS OWN STORY—If 12-year-old Pearl Trestrail of Battle Creek had to put her dolls to bed each night she would have to have considerable help. But instead of her telling them a story, each of the 70 in her collection has a story to tell Pearl. Here Pearl is shown with her many types of dolls in their St. Mary's lake home.

WANNA BUY A ROAD?—If you've a hankering to own a nicely paved, tree-shaded road, Uncle Sam will sell you the one pictured above. Four-fifths of a mile long, it is located at Arlington, Va., and is called "Fort Myer Drive." Road is property of the Army, but Army no longer wants it, so War Assets Administration is offering it to bidders. (NEA Photo.)

MAKES HISTORY—For the first time in the 161-year history of the Protestant Episcopal Church, a woman has been admitted to its Supreme Legislative Body. She is Mrs. Randolph Dyer, above, of St. Louis, Mo., elected a member of the House of Deputies at the recent 55th triennial convention in Philadelphia, Pa. (NEA Photo.)

SHE BOSSES TOWN'S COPS—When 21-year-old Kathleen Heilmann took a job as tax collector for Oaklawn, Ill., she discovered that her duties included serving as desk sergeant for the village's three-man police force. Above, "Sergeant" Heilmann turns over a complaint slip to Patrolman Jack Livingstone, with orders to investigate. She also acts as dispatcher for Oaklawn's volunteer fire department. (NEA Photo.)

RECONCILED—Pictured here is the happy end of the divorce case of Cromwell vs. Cromwell in Chicago circuit court. Marguerite, 21, thought $20 a week was too much for her husband to pay for her support and that of their year-old son. Husband Richard, also 21, thought the amount too small. Judge L. G. Reid decided the pair were still in love. He was right. They asked dismissal of the case and are shown after their reconciliation. (NEA Photo.)

Hockenbury Confers On Hotel With Local Residents

John E. Hockenbury, founder of Hockenbury System, Inc., hotel survey organization which last spring conducted a survey here to determine the feasibility of erecting a new, modern hotel structure in Gladstone, arrived in Gladstone yesterday to confer with Norman Knutsen, president of the City Club, under whose auspices the survey was made.

Hockenbury last night also conferred with members of a general committee named by Knutsen to handle or work with the Hockenbury men in conducting a fund-raising campaign in connection with the proposed hotel.

A. C. Peterson, superintendent of the Gladstone division of the Soo Line railroad, will serve as chairman of the general committee. Vice chairman is Atty. Glenn W. Jackson.

The complete membership of the committee is A. C. Peterson, Atty. Glenn W. Jackson, S. R. Venne, James T. Jones, Nick Siglan, L. N. Empson, A. W. Rohde, E. H. Huesener, Andrew Canuelle, J. A. Sturgeon, Walter Erickson, Fred Schram, H. J. Henrikson, Allan Gillis, J. J. Poffenberger, Seymour Lewis, Fred Hoover, David Page, Leslie Hermanson, William Marble, Walter Lied, Robert Hupp, Max Neveaux, Milton Berg, Wallace Cameron, Charles Burton, Vincent P. Johnson, Wynand Nieuwenkamp, Walter Tang and Elmer Beaudry.

At a meeting Sept. 17, the City Club voted to contract with the Hockenbury System to put on an investment drive to learn if sufficient money could be raised to finance erection of a hotel.

The survey unit suggested erection of a 40 room structure at a cost of $210,000. Of the total estimated cost $126,000 was to be raised by local subscription with the Hockenbury unit conducting the campaign.

It was also voted at the Sept. 17

LOSES CARLOAD OF SOAP

Saulte Ste. Marie—A carload of soap designated for the Gamble-Robinson company still strike-bound since early last summer, has been returned to Lever Brothers, shippers of the car. Albert James, business manager for the Teamsters' Union said today.

James said that a representative of the soap company contacted the union last week for release of the soap. The union, he said, agreed to release the soap to some other local jobbers but not to the company, so the soap apparently was returned to the manufacturer for redistribution.

BUECHNER MAY TAKE NEW JOB

Hamilton, Ohio, Offers Lucrative Post To Manager

The possibility that City Manager F. R. Buechner may leave Superior for a more lucrative post at Hamilton, Ohio, is revealed in a story appearing in the Milwaukee Sentinel Wednesday.

Buechner managed the City of Gladstone for many years, leaving here to take a similar post at Piqua, an Ohio manufacturing town. He went to Superior from Piqua.

The story appearing in the Milwaukee paper:

"Superior's first and only city manager may be leaving within a week.

"Frank R. Buechner, who was hired in June, 1941, from his Piqua, O., post when Superior adopted the city manager plan, has been offered a similar post at Hamilton, O. The salary of $10,000 would be a $2,900 increase from his present $7,100.

"The Hamilton Common Council voted unanimously last night to invite Buechner. The formal bid is expected Oct. 2."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Flag Hopes Revived As Dodgers Rebound And Wallop Phils, 8 To 2

GAP NARROWED TO HALF GAME

Idle Cards Have 3 Left To Play, Brooks Wind Up With 2 At Home

Brooklyn, Sept. 26. (AP)—Brooklyn's hopes of overtaking the St. Louis Cardinals took on new life today when the Dodgers rebounded from yesterday's horrendous setback by Philadelphia, turned on the Phillies with a 13-hit attack which produced an 8-2 victory.

The victory closed the gap between them and the front-running St. Louis Cardinals to half a game. The Dodgers now have two games to go and the Cards, idle today, have three. Both clubs finish at home, the Dodgers clashing with Boston's Braves twice and the Red Sox meeting the Chicago Cubs three times.

The victory proved costly for the Dodgers, however, since outfielder Pete Reiser suffered a broken fibula in his left leg sliding back to first base in the first inning.

Before a capacity crowd of 31,708, the Dodgers got off to a one run lead in the first and scored four more, knocking out Schanz in the fourth. The Brooks continued their assault on Oscar Judd when Joe Medwick hit his second home run of the season into the left field seats with Augie Galan aboard.

Kirby Higbe, one of the eight pitchers used by the Dodgers yesterday, pitched shutout ball until the eighth when the Phils scored both their runs. It was the right-hander's 17th victory against eight defeats.

Score by innings: Philadelphia . . . 000 000 020—2 7 1 Brooklyn . . . 100 402 10x—8 13 0 Schanz, Judd (4), Stancu (7), Karl (8) and Hemsley; Higbe and Edwards.

Zale Puts Up Title Against Graziano's 'Rock-a-bye Punch'

BY SID FEDER

New York, Sept. 16. (AP)—Tony Zale puts his world middleweight title on the line for the first time in his five years as champion tomorrow night against the challenge of Rocky Graziano and his "rock-a-bye punch," and the bout is so hot it may draw the biggest gate ever lured by the two little men.

They go to the post at 9 p. m. (CDT) in Yankee Stadium. Promoter Mike Jacobs' box office men tell you it is a cinch to outdraw the recent Joe Louis-Tony Marileo heavyweight brawl in the same Bronx ballyard and zip right up past the $400,000 mark.

This corner picks Zale to hang onto the championship, largely because he's a full-sized middleweight, while Rocky has been doing most of his wrecking jobs on welters, and because Tony comes close to being just about as explosive a body puncher as has come down the pike in years.

It has been noted that Graziano has improved somewhat in boxing skill in his last few starts, and no longer follows the simple system of merely pulling the string on his high hard one and then stepping back to let the other man fall down. He found out that style doesn't always pay off.

However, the Gray, Ind., boy has been in there with a few of those "long Tom" artillery pieces in his time, notably Al Hostak, the former middleweight king who could raise large lumps on another fellow when he warmed up to his work. And inasmuch as Zale survived three meetings with Hostak with no loss of limb, there is no reason to suspect that the rock-a-bye punch will be something brand new to him.

In the better 49th street betting shops it was 7½-8½—take 7½ to 5 if you like Zale and lay 8½ to 5 if you want The Rock. And the word was it would get lower by the time the fireworks go off tomorrow.

NEW PARKING LOT
East Lansing, Sept. 26. (AP)—A new free parking lot has been opened southeast of Michigan State College's football stadium to replace the former lot now occupied by "gunshot yellow" Athletic Director Ralph H. Young announced today.

Pay lots will continue at the north and south end of the stadium, Young said, the latter lot having been enlarged recently.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Like the spider in his web, the Norway Vikings are waiting to snare the Eskymos Saturday when the Escanaba team plays at the Norway field. Last year's powerful Eskymo team crushed Norway 34 to 0 and the Vikings are not quick to forget and forgive. The pre-game favorite puts Norway way up on top in the betting odds, but from the Escanaba standpoint it doesn't mean a thing. Figured strictly on a basis of comparative scores, Norway rates two touchdowns over Escanaba. It comes out this way—Ironwood defeated Iron River, 14 to 6 and trounced Escanaba, 19 to 7, which, theoretically, makes Iron River one touchdown better than Escanaba. But Norway beat Iron River 12 to 6, which makes the Vikings two touchdowns better than the Eskymos.

Then, too, there is still another factor that favors Norway and that is the fact that Saturday's game will be played on the Norway field, where Escanaba teams have traditionally run afoul. It is significant, however, that in other games played by the Eskymos at Norway, they held the pre-game edge, thereby giving Norway the psychological advantage. The situation is reversed this year. This time the Vikings are favorites and it is the Eskymos' chance to pick themselves up by the bootstraps. It's a good guess that Coach Rutwitch's lads will turn in their best performance to date against Norway Saturday.

Offensively, the inexperienced Eskymos can match the more experienced Vikings but it is the Escanaba defense that will face the greatest test Saturday. In the opening game with the Soo, the Escanaba defense was shabby but it improved at Ironwood, even though it still was far from satisfactory. The ends, who were in the wrong place at the wrong time in the Soo game, came through in good style at Ironwood, but the tackles, however, reeling off a number of substantial gains in addition to a 46-yard touchdown hunt. The lad is only 15 years old, however, and still lacks the stamina needed for 48 minutes of hard hitting ball foting. That will develop in another year.

Incidentally, it was not Gustafson who closed in a 3-0 yard gap to haul down Gregory of Ironwood, who was headed for a touchdown Saturday, as reported in Sunday's story of the Escanaba-Ironwood game. It was Jack Peterson, the fleet-footed Eskymo halfback, Upper Peninsula sprint champion. Gustafson played a strong game at Ironwood, however, reeling off a number of substantial gains in addition to a 46-yard touchdown hunt. The lad is only 15 years old, however, and still lacks the stamina needed for 48 minutes of hard hitting ball foting. That will develop in another year.

Predictions—Menominee. Iron Mountain and Negaunee will win night games this evening. Crystalstone, Marinette, Ishpeming, Gladstone, Wakefield, Houghton, Newberry will win Saturday games. And, oh, yes, don't be surprised if Escanaba upsets Norway, 13 to 7 Saturday. No comment on Niagara-Stephenson and St. Joseph-Lourdes games in which we are officiating.

Star Mound Staff Gives Red Sox Big Series Advantage

BY GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Sept. 26. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox, with Dave (Boo) Ferris, Tex Hughson and Mickey Harris all rested up and rearing to go, will boast a huge advantage over either the St. Louis Cardinals or the Brooklyn Dodgers in the all-important matter of World Series pitching.

Seldom, in fact, has the representative of either league appeared on the surface so thoroughly to outclass its series opponent on the mound—not even the Detroit Tigers of last year, when they had Hal Newhouser, Dizzy Trout and Virgil Trucks to throw at the Chicago Cubs.

Ferris, the brilliant sophomore, had won 25 games and lost but six as of today. Hughson, another big right-hander, had rung up a 19-11 mark, and Harris, the club's southpaw artist, stood at 17-8. Thus, the big three of the American League champions had between them won 61 while dropping 25.

The Sox own some other better-than-fair chuckers, including Joe Dobson (13-6), but Manager Joe Cronin probably will need to haul out no more than his terrific trio if they perform up to their press clippings, especially if the Cards are the opposition.

The Cardinals possess in Howie Pollet the one flinger either on their own or the Brooklyn roster whose record indicates he might stand up and swap punches with Boston's star-spangled array. Pollet, a stylish southpaw who has won 20 and lost 9 while working 21 complete games, would be a mortal chin to open the series in St. Louis.

The Cards' two most likely starters besides Pollet would appear to be Murry Dickson, a right-hander who blossomed in mid-season to run up a 14-6 record, and Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, a left-hander whose season record, 14-15, does not look so hot, but who can pitch brilliant ball on occasion and is a remarkable fielder. Manager Eddie Dyer might, of course, spring a surprise starter in George Munger, the big ex-soldier who has won two out of three since reporting late in the season. In Ted Wilke, who boasts a string of eight straight victories, the Cards have the best relief man in their league, and he probably will toil amply if his team enters the big series.

Vic Lombardi (13-9), Veteran Kirby Higbe, (16-8), and Joe Hatten, a rookie southpaw (13-10), might be said to comprise the backbone of the Dodger staff, though Higbe, to illustrate, has worked only 10 complete games. Hugh Casey has won 11 games and Art Herring 7, yet neither has gone the route.

BROWNIES FALL FOR TIGERS, 6-3

Greenberg Gets 2 More Homers, Needs 3 To Break Record

Detroit, Sept. 26. (AP)—Hammering Hank Greenberg, pushing his slugging spree toward a rousing finish, swatted his 43rd and 44th home runs of the season here today as the Detroit Tigers whipped the St. Louis Browns 6 to 3.

Greenberg, hiking his runs batted-in total to 125 to strengthen his league lead in that department as well as in the home run derby, scored the first three Detroit runs before the Tigers went ahead to sew up the victory with four tallies in the eighth inning.

With 16 homers for the month of September, Hank needs one in each of Detroit's last three games to break Rudy York's single month record of 18 established in August, 1937.

Rookie Lou Kretlow, making his first major league appearance, gave the Browns seven hits, two of them homers by Al Zarilla and Vern Stephens, while Detroit collected 15 safeties off Denny Galehouse and Stan Ferens.

Before the smallest paid attendance here this year the Tigers wound up their season series with St. Louis by taking their 14th victory against eight defeats.

Kretlow scattered three Brownie hits over the first seven innings and had a shutout until Mark Christian singled and Zarilla homered in the eighth. Stephens' 14th four-bagger came with nobody on base in the ninth.

Greenberg was the bell-cow of the Tigers attack, singling in the second, moving to second on Anse Moore's hit and moving around on a pair of forceouts to count the first run.

Hank lined a tremendous clout into the upper left field seats off Galehouse in the fourth and led off the eighth with his second homer of the game, a high drive into the left field pavilion off Ferens.

Doubles by Anse Moore and Kretlow and singles by Bob Swift and Johnny Ligon brought in three more runs before Ferens could get the side out in the eighth.

Left-hander Ted Gray drew Detroit's starting pitching assignment for tomorrow, opposing Bob Kuzana in a rookie duel in the opener of the season's final three-game series with Cleveland.

U.S. Army To Expand Reich Sports Program Despite Red Criticism

BY RICHARD KASISCHKE

Berlin, Sept. 26. (AP)—The U. S. Army and military government has announced plans for expansion of army-sponsored recreational and sports programs for German youth despite a Russian protest that the army's baseball classes are militaristic.

The Russians made an official protest at a meeting of Berlin's Allied Kommandatur, claiming that the practice of U. S. soldiers teaching German boys to play baseball was in violation of a control council law forbidding certain sports and sports training clubs as conducive to militarism.

"We have no intention of dropping the program," said Col. Frank L. Howley of Philadelphia, senior American military government officer here. "I believe we can convince the Russians that our baseball is simply pure—non-military and non-political."

"We ourselves are thoroughly sold on the tremendous effectiveness of the program. It's very good for the kids—helps keep them busy and out of trouble and delinquency. We also find that it is good for our soldiers to associate with the youngsters to try to teach them fair play."

"I don't think that the Russians quite understand what we are doing. They don't like the idea of soldiers playing with youngsters and they probably think that the German youth ought rather to be busy listening to serious lectures. But I think we'll be able to convince them that there is no harm in the game."

A large crowd of local fans will travel to Norway Saturday for the Eskymos-Viking game.

Although Sunday's game will be the first of the season for St. Joseph, their opponent, Lourdes has one game under its belt. Lourdes dropped a 12 to 7 decision to St. Norbert's high school of DePere, Wisconsin last weekend.

Philadelphia, Sept. 26. (AP)—The Washington Senators shut out the Philadelphia Athletics, 2 to 0, today in the final game of the year between the two teams at Shibe park.

Mickey Heafner blanked the A's with six hits, allowing only one man to reach third and one second, for his 14th victory of the season.

The Senators scored their two runs off Jess Flores in the sixth inning on a walk to Joe Grace, a triple off the right field wall by Stan Spence and a single by Cecil Travis.

Pirates Right Handers Nicked For 4 Runs In One Inning

Chicago, Sept. 26. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs used a four-run eighth inning to gain a 5-3 victory over Pittsburgh here today in closing out the home season in Wrigley Field.

Held to five hits and a single in the first seven innings by Jack Hallett, the Cubs turned on the Pirate right hander for three of their five hits in posting four runs to gain their 44th victory in 77 games at home.

Lou Stringer singled after two were out in the eighth to start Hallett's trouble. Eddie Waitkus drew Jack's trouble and Phil Cavarretta followed with a single, scoring Stringer. Marv Rickert also connected, scoring Waitkus.

Lefty Al Gerheuser replaced Hallett and pitched a base-cleaning double to Bill Nicholson. Eddie Hanyzewski, second of three Cub pitchers, received credit for the victory.
